79. The following resolution offered by W. E. Wilkins was adopted:

That we continue the work of the Committee on Co-operative Evangelism, authorizing the President to appoint three members to fill the vacancies on the committee.

The committee was announced as follows: L. M. Roper, Z. T. Cody, H. A. Bagby, C. E. Burts, C. L. Fowler, M. A. Connors, and G. A. Wright.

80. The report of the committee to nominate Trustees of Greenville Female College reported through W. L. R. Cahall, and the report was adopted as follows: To serve five years: J. R. Aiken, A. A. Bristow, J. A. Brown. To serve four years: J. A. Brunson, J. J. Gentry, J. D. Gilreath. To serve three years: J. P. Gossett, W. B. Oliver, J. W. Quattlebaum. To serve two years: B. M. Shuman, O. C. Scarborough, W. T. Tate. To serve one year: J. R. Ware, J. H. Wharton, C. P. Wray. We would recommend that three trustees be elected each year to serve for a term of five years.

81. The Constitution, Art. V, on motion of J. W. Quattlebaum, was changed to read "institutions," plural, with other words changed to correspond.

82. The report of the committee appointed last year to report on the feasibility of establishing an educational commission was read by H. A. Bagby. Its adoption was moved by W. J. Langston. On motion of C. E. Burts, the report was recommitted, with instructions to the committee to confer with the committee on program as to fixing a suitable time for its consideration next year. The committee on said commission is as follows: H. A. Bagby, J. R. Moore,

C. C. Brown, W. E. Thayer, L. D. Lodge, L. M. Rice, E. C. James, F. N. K. Bailey, D. T. Smith and E. V. Baldy.

On motion of Z. T. Cody the report was ordered to be published in the minutes.

83. After much discussion, the following resolution was offered by A. J. S. Thomas and adopted:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this Convention that Brethren O. L. Stringfield and E. P. Easterling be requested to proceed with their work, and that they endeavor to raise $200,000 for Furman University and the Greenville Female College.

That the Executive Committees of these institutions, in conference with these financial agents, be requested to arrange the canvass for 1908 on a basis of $65,000 for Furman University and $35,000 for the Greenville Female College.

That the funds, as they are secured, during the year 1908 shall be divided in the ratio of $65,000 for Furman University to $35,000 for the Greenville Female College.

That the basis for the canvass for 1909 by $65,000 for the Greenville Female College and $35,000 for Furman University.

84. On motion of A. T. Jamison it was resolved that the statistical secretary be allowed a salary of one hundred dollars for the year, and that this amount be paid in the usual way.

85. The following resolution offered by J. D. Huggins was adopted:

Resolved, That we put on record our high appreciation of the alert, conscientious, courteous and prompt manner in which Brother Charles A. Smith has discharged the duties of the office of President, and thank him for his impartial rulings and his observance of all the wishes of the body.

86. The following resolution was offered by E. M. Poteat and was adopted by a rising vote:

Resolved, That the thanks of this body be tendered to the people of Orangeburg, the members of this church, the newspapers and railroads, for courtesies and kindnesses so graciously bestowed, and that we record our hearty appreciation of these attentions.

87. After singing "Blest be the tie that binds," the Convention adjourned with prayer by J. Hartwell Edwards, to meet in Union, S. C., on Tuesday before the second Sunday in December, 1908, at 7:30 p. m.

CHARLES A. SMITH,
President.

REPORTS

Report of the Executive Board to the South Carolina Baptist State Convention

In surrendering the trust recommitted to us one year ago, we desire to acknowledge with devout gratitude the mercies of God in the kind providence gathering about the workers, and the large amount of prosperity attending their labors.

We have been impressed with the importance of the trust committed to us, and have earnestly sought wisdom from Him who gives liberally and upbraids not, that we might so discharge our trust as to glorify Christ and advance the interests of our denomination in the State. More men have been employed, more work has been done. more fruit gathered, and more money raised this year than during any year of the board's existence.

Nineteen years ago the Convention met in this city. Some of the strong men of that day have gone to their reward; others have moved from the State. A comparison of the report we bring today with the one made in 1888 is most encouraging. Then we had a working force of 83 men and one lady missionary; now we have 136 men and 15 lady missionaries; then our income was $10,314.40, now it is nearly three times that amount. Surely we are making progress.

At the January meeting of the board, the amounts recommended by the convention to be raised for the different objects fostered by the convention were apportioned among the associations. The board recommended to the executive committees of our associations that they apportion the amounts allotted to each association among the churches of the same. This was done in most cases.

At the same meeting Rev. W. T. Derieux, D. D., was elected Assistant Corresponding Secretary and Rev. J. D. Moore, S. S. Field Secretary. Two brethren were elected as State evangelists, but only one of them, Rev. L. A. Cooper, accepted the appointment.

During the year 151 men and women have been in the employ of the board for the whole or a part of their time. Of these 122 have served as missionary pastors; 12 as colporters; 1 State evangelist; 1 Sunday school field secretary, and 15 lady missionaries. They have occupied 201 stations. Work has been done in each of our 37 associations. The results of their labors as far as figures can show may be seen from the following:

SUMMARY OF WORK.

Missionaries and colporters employed, 151; stations occupied, 201; days engaged, 13,186; miles traveled, 87,646; sermons and addresses delivered, 9,332; prayer meetings held, 3,066; religious visits, 31,808; conversions, 2,384; baptisms, 1,904; received by letter, 1,375; restored to fellowship, 152; total additions to our mission churches, 3,431; membership in mission churches, 13,609; churches organized, 3; churches re-organized, 3; Sunday schools organized, 34; number of Sunday schools at mission stations, 195; number of teachers and scholars, 14,767.

Collected in mission churches for State missions	$2,767.35
For home missions	534.04
For foreign missions	1,068.22
For orphanage	1,007.15
For ministerial education	222.23
For aged and infirm ministers	331.63

Our missionaries have labored faithfully, and so far as we can judge have done a lasting work for humanity's good, and God's glory.

A retrospect of the work of the past year fills us with gratitude to God, and hope for the future. Songs of praise and thanksgiving to Him should ascend from all our hearts for the multitudes of people converted and baptized into the fellowship of our churches.

NEW FIELDS ENTERED.

Work has been undertaken at Inman Mills, and an extension of the work among the mill people of Rock Hill. A very hopeful work has also been begun in Shandon and Waverley, suburban villages of Columbia. A church has already been organized at the former place. Steps have been taken for the beginning of a much needed work at Clemson College, where a church has been organized. We hope soon to have a missionary there.

Second, Hartsville	1,982.75
New Brookland	2,635.05
Park, York County	1,300.00

Camp Creek, Lancaster County	1,500.00
Second, Dillon, Marion County	1,134.75
Sawyer Memorial, Orangeburg County	800.00
Ebenezer, Lancaster County	260.00
Hopewell, Cherokee County	388.13
Eden, Horry County	500.00
Expended on improvement of 23 other houses of worship at mission stations	1,746.41
	$23,131.40

Fifteen new houses of worship built to stand through the coming years as lighthouses for Christ.

THE MILL PEOPLE.

A wide and very important field for usefulness has opened up to us in late years in our manufacturing towns. As far back as 1888 we had missionaries at work among the mill people. At that time there were only 34 mills in our State, now we have 159 mills with a population of 126,638 in their villages. In the older mill towns we have quite a number of self-sustaining churches who support their own pastors and contribute liberally towards the support of other weaker interests.

During the year we have had a force of 54 men and 15 women at work among the people of 80 mill villages. In these villages we have already 56 organized churches. All these churches are being trained to contribute regularly to all of our benevolent enterprises.

It gives us pleasure to acknowledge the help given by the different mill companies in the promotion of our work among their people. Appalache Mills furnishes a parsonage. Aiken Manufacturing Co. furnishes a parsonage and $300 towards the pastor's salary.

Brandon Mill, towards the pastor's salary	$100.00
Camperdown Mill, towards the pastor's salary	75.00
Cheswell Mills, towards the pastor's salary	25.00
Cox Man. Co., towards pastor's salary	25.00
Columbia Mills, towards the pastor's salary	100.00
Gluck Mills, towards the pastor's salary	50.00
Hartsville Mills, towards a parsonage	....
Huguenot Mill, towards pastor's salary	50.00
Inman Mill, towards a parsonage	....
Langley Mfg. Co., a parsonage and towards the pastor's salary	600.00
Laurens Mills, a parsonage and	50.00
Marlboro Mills, towards a church house	400.00
Mills Mill, a parsonage.
Monarch Mill, a parsonage.
Newberry Mill, a parsonage.
Sampson Mill, a parsonage.
Spartan Mills,	75.00

Toxaway and Riverside, a parsonage and 50.00
Watts Mill, a parsonage.
Whaley Mill, a parsonage and.. .. .. 300.00
Also a house for our lady missionaries.
Poe Mill, a parsonage.
Monaghan Mills, a parsonage and duplicates whatever the Church gives to the pastor's salary.

THE WORK OF OUR LADY MISSIONARIES.

Recruits secured for Sunday schools.. 525
Religious visits made 18,287
Copies of Scriptures donated and sold 234
Pages of tracts distributed 11,416
Garments given to the poor 3,079
Sick persons visited and many of them nursed 4,970

Figures cannot possibly represent the great work and blessed influence of these noble women. God is using them to mould the characters of hundreds and hundreds of young people. From their lips multitudes of little children are learning the beautiful story of Jesus and His love.

South Carolina Baptists were the first to put lady missionaries to work at home, and every passing year confirms the wisdom of the movement and the importance of their work.

BIBLE AND COLPORTAGE WORK.

The interest in this important department of Christian effort continues unabated. Nine of our missionaries have carried supplies of books with them, and 12 others have done good work as colporters. An increasing number of pastors have been supplied with books and have sold them to their people. Books have been sold during the year to the amount of $5,285.37; Scriptures donated to the amount of $97.16; total amount of sales and donations, $5,382.53.

We are not doing as extensive a work as needs to be done, but the Scriptures are being placed in the hands of those without them, and our denominational literature is being widely circulated. Thousands of tracts and pamphlets have been sent all over the State. Through the reading of books placed in the homes of our people, some have been led to Christ, some converted to our views of truth, and many of our people established in those principles which are dear to us as Baptists.

OUR STATE EVANGELIST.

Rev. L. A. Cooper has labored very faithfully during the nine months he has been in the field. He has held eleven meetings, and accomplished much good at each point. At these meetings 350 sermons have been preached. resulting in 353 conversions, 127 baptisms, and 62 received by letter, and $1,527.77 raised for State missions. At these meetings the Churches received a spiritual uplift; pastors and people were more thoroughly knit together, and an increased interest in the Master's work will abide.

THE CO-OPERATION OF OUR WOMEN.

We record with gratitude the help extended to us in the support of the work by the Woman's Missionary Union. Year by year their interest in the evanglization of our State is deepened and their contributions for State missions increased. During their last conventional year, their gifts for State missions amounted to $4,656.04. This year they have resolved to raise 5,000, and it will be done. Our good women show the spirit of Him who when on earth, went about doing good. They are working nobly in their own way. but co-operating heartily with us in the support of all our benevolent enterprises. God speed the day when we will have a Woman's Missionary Society in every one of our churches.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF UNION.

On the credit side of our financial statement it will be seen that during the year we paid out to the above church $411.52. Two years ago, owing to the failure of cotton mills in Union, the Church was sadly embarrassed by a heavy Church debt. The Home Mission Board and our State Mission Board agreed for a time to pay the interest on the debt. This has been done for two years. Brother John A. Fant, a member of the Church whom God called home this year, provided in his will for a sufficient sum to cover the Church debt. A fine house of worship has thus been saved to the denomination.

We append the interesting report of our Sunday School Field Secretary:

CHURCH BUILDING DEPARTMENT.

With the springing up of new towns and the growth of older ones, there is a greater demand than ever before for houses of worship. The churches at many of these places are unable to build without help. Lots for church buildings and money towards their erection have been offered by presidents of mills, on condition that we add to the money offered. We have no fund from which to meet such propositions. With the establishment of a Church Building Department in connection with the board, funds would be secured that could be donated or loaned to those needing help as seemed best in the judgment of the board. Years ago the Corresponding Secretary secured from the children of the State contributions that stimulated weak churches to help themselves and aided in the erection of 22 houses of worship. If the children in the past rendered such substantial aid, what may we not expect from the grown people in the future? We most earnestly recommend that the Convention instruct the board to establish such a department.

OUR ASSISTANT SECRETARY.

Dr. W. T. Derieux has been abundant in labors. He has been well received by the people, and has rendered most efficient service as field secretary.

REV. M. C. COMPTON.

On September 23 this beloved brother fell at his post. He was a man of God, thoroughly consecrated to his Master's service. He was largely instrumental in building up the Second Baptist Church at Laurens. He rests from his labors and his works do follow him.

CONCLUSION.

Our thanks are due to the Sunday School Board for a gift of $200 and a large donation of valuable pamphlets.

To the Home Mission Board for aid extended to the New Brookland and Union church buildings.

To the Baptist Women's Home Mission Society of Chicago for their gift towards the support of two of our lady missionaries.

We close the year's work with hearts full of gratitude to God for what has been accomplished. Not only has more money been raised, but there has been a large increase in the number of givers. Thirteen of our associations have given above the amounts asked for, and are entitled to a place on the honor roll. They are as follows: Abbeville, Broad River, Edgefield, Fairfield, Florence, Greenville, Kershaw. Laurens, Pee Dee, Reedy River, Twelve Mile River, Union County, Welsh Neck, and Saluda.

As a denomination we are just beginning to realize our strength. Vast opportunities lie out before us. Brethren, let us arise and possess this goodly land for Christ, for we are able.

Z. T. CODY,
President.

T. M. BAILEY,
Corresponding Secretary.

Auditor S. C. B. C.

Report on Report of Executive Board

Your committee, to whom was referred the report of the State board, wish to offer the following report:

1. In regard to the financial report we note the following items of interest. The total receipts from all sources aggregate $29,623.57, an increase over last year's receipts of $6,718.31. However, we find that $5,813.87 was needed to pay salaries of the previous year, and that $1,568.79 was designated to church buildings and credited to State Missions by request of the churches. This amount is now in the bank. Hence, the amount available for this year's operations was only $22,240.91, of which $1,732.24 was borrowed from the Colportage Fund. The board is now due its employees a small balance. We deem it wise that the Convention should know these things that it may realize the urgent need of more funds at once.

2. We are gratified to note the good work being done by our State evangelist and recommend the continuance and enlargement of this department of our work.

3. We wish heartily to commend the action of the Board in extending aid to the First Church of Union in its time of need.

4. In keeping with the request of the board we heartily recommend the creation of a Church Building Department, leaving it to the board to work out the details of the plan.

5. We further recommend that the Executive Board be instructed to borrow money, when needed, to pay its missionaries quarterly, and its other employees monthly.

6. We wish to call especial attention to the blessings of God on our work as shown in the large increase in contributions, amounting to about $5,000.00; and the 1904 additions to our membership by baptism; the churches organized and the more than $23,000.00 expended by the mission churches themselves in buildings and repairs. Surely these things should call forth our gratitude and praise to God and should nerve us to undertake still greater things in His name. While much has been accomplished, the need was never greater nor the demand more imperative than today. Here as in every department of our Christian work the call is for enlargement.

Respectfully submitted,

CHAS. A. JONES,
N. N. BURTON,
J. J. GENTRY,
C. C. VAUGHAN.

Report of the Sunday School Committee of the State Mission Board

The work of the Sunday school department for the past year may be summarized as follows:

Field Work.—During the year the secretary has had appointments in every association in the State, having visited 80 churches and Sunday schools distributed among the associations as follows: Seven in Fairfield, six in Orangeburg, five in Charleston, four each in Barnwell, Colleton, Pee Dee and Welsh Neck; three each in Aiken, Edisto, Lexington, Reedy River and Waccamaw; two each in Abbeville, Black River. Edgefield, Moriah and Ridge, and in all the others one appointment each (that in the Twelve Mile River not being carried out). The above does not include attendance at the annual meetings of the associations, the stress of strictly Sunday school work being so great as to make it inexpedient for the secretary to attend many of them. In this way he has made 221 speeches during the year, to Sunday school audiences aggregating in number, by conservative estimate, 15,075, being more than one-third of our entire enrollment, representing 305 Sunday schools, a little less than one-third of the whole number in the State. Of these 305, more than two-thirds, were country Sunday schools. Contributions received by the secretary for Sunday school missions at the different meetings held, amounts to $128.95. In the field work, the points of contact have been variously the church, the school, the Associational Sunday School Convention, the institute and the assembly; the methods have been lectures, open addresses, sermons; the specific task has been the enlisting and development of our Sunday school forces by the use of our convention's normal courses and otherwise; also, a better gradation in the schools and a more adequate organization of the workers along the line of special departments, such as the Cradle Rolls, the Baraca and Philathea classes, and the Home Department, and the supreme motive has been the glory of Christ through the development of our Sunday schools in numerical strength, spiritual power and efficient service.

Institute Itineraries.—There were three during the year, one each in the central, northwestern and southeastern portions of the State. The first was held in March and conducted by Secretary B. W. Spilman in company with the State secretary. On this trip we were out 12 days and filled appointments at 22 churches in the following 14 associations: Kershaw, Moriah, Fairfield, Ridge, Edgefield, Aiken, Savannah River, Barnwell, Orangeburg, Santee, Black River, Welsh Neck, Florence and Pee Dee. The last of October and the first of November, the secretary alone conducted the second series of institutes in the northwestern part of the State, with meetings in the York, Broad River, Spartanburg, North Greenville, Piedmont and Pickens Associations. November 7-17, the eastern itinerary was made in company with Secretary Hight C. Moore, with institutes in the Dorchester, Black River, Southeast, Charleston, Waccamaw and Pee Dee Associations. Thus every section of the State and the large majority of the associations have been included in the tour plans for the year.

The Summer Assembly.—The Mission Board to whom the convention at the last session referred the matter of a summer assembly, endorsed the movement and authorized the Sunday school committee to devise means and perfect plans therefor. The South Carolina Baptist Summer assembly was accordingly determined upon, with August 12-16 as the time and Furman University as the place. It was also decided to give the young people's work a prominent place on the programme, thus linking the unions and the Sundays schools together in the undertaking. The meeting was arranged for fellowship, spirituality, instruction and inspiration. The programme for each day consisted of four distinct periods—the forenoons comprised song service, Bible studies and brief discussions; the afternoons were given up entirely to recreation; the nightfalls to devotional exercises, and the evenings to popular addresses. The discussions were all of a very high order, but special mention should be made of Dr. Poteat's splendid exposition of the Acts, in his treatment of the Church's early history. The attendance was comparatively small, although a great many associations were represented. The wish was formally expressed by those present that the assembly should become an established feature of our denominational life, and that Furman University should become its permanent location. The entire expenses incurred in arranging and carrying on this work were as follows: (1) Stationery, stamps, speakers' and office expenses, $65.35; (2) printing programme, $75.25; (3) song books for use at the assembly, $30.00, making a total of $170.60. To meet this expense the following amounts have been received: (1) State B. Y. P. U., $25.00; (2) sale of cuts, $4.00, and (3) from the Sunday school (see statistical table) $107.07, making total receipts $136.07. This leaves an unpaid balance of $34.53, distributed as follows: To R. L. Bryan Co., printing, $18.25, and to E. M. Poteat, song books, $16.28. This deficit exists notwithstanding numerous and repeated appeals for assistance, and we regretfully submit the claims of this cause to the board and the convention. The committee requests that the convention in session decide whether another meeting of this kind shall be held or not.

Recommendation.—The committee suggests the advisability of establishing at Columbia, in connection with the work of the Sunday school field secretary a repository for Sunday school libraries, books on Sunday school work, literature, hymn books, etc.

Tracts and Articles.—During the year the secretary has had occasion to publish various articles on different phases of Sunday school work, principally those that appeared in the Baptist Courier, The Baptist Press, The Central Baptist, St. Louis; The Convention Teacher and the Superintendent's Quarterly, Nashville. A four-page tract on "Closing the Sunday school in the Winter" has just been issued and another on "How to Establish a Baptist Sunday School" is ready for publication.

Organized Work.—During the year two associations have established Sunday school conventions under the direction of the department, and abuses in others have been permanently corrected, so that we now have 22 well established annual associational conventions. In all the others, special meetings, such as Sunday school unions and institutes are held regularly. In some a missionary or secretary has been appointed to labor, with little or no financial remuneration, for the improvement of local conditions, and in others special committees have been authorized to cooperate with the State secretary in work to that end. About ten Baraca classes have been organized in our Sunday schools during the year; several home departments and a few Cradle Rolls; a number of normal classes have been formed and a larger number of individuals have been enlisted in our teacher training courses until we stand now third, perhaps, on the list of States in the number of workers taking these studies.

Expenses.—The total expenses of the department for the year have been $1,459.10, of which the items are as follows: Salary, $1,200.00; railroad fares, $157.54 (7,677 miles traveled at 2c. per mile), with hotel and livery expenses of $26.35; stamps, stationery, printing, office and field supplies, $75.21. In the last mentioned account is included the postage required by the committee in sending out to all the schools in the State an appeal for the support of the department, returns from which may be found in the statistical table under "Pledges." In addition to the amount there stated, many of the schools pledged "A Collection," which may be variously estimated, of course, but conservatively put down at $150, making the entire mount of pledges for this purpose alone by the Sunday schools, $500.00. Thus the loyalty toward the department on the part of its constituents has been unprecedented in the history of similar movements in other States for the first year. Especially is this true when it is considered that the secretary has had need to visit principally those districts where of necessity his labors were instructional and missionary rather than collectional; that the work of the department is new to the great majority of our people and therefore imperfectly understood by them; and that the aggregate amount of money needed for it was so little, compared with that of the other objects fostered by the convention, that no one has felt any great weight of financial responsibility or obligation toward it. Thus the work has been done on a most economical basis, and at a minimum cost to the denomination at large.

Superintendents.—A complete list of our superintendents, compiled from the minutes of the associations, and corrected, revised and perfected by personal correspondence, is available for insertion in the minutes of the convention if it is thought best to have it published. We believe it would be wise to do so.

Acknowledgements.—We gratefully acknowledge the generosity of our Sunday school board of Nashville in furnishing a large number and variety of tracts for general distribution; also, for making an appropriation of $200 to our State board on account of the department, and for the services of their field secretary on two special tours during the year. We are also indebted to Dr. Frost for the offer of free literature for one or more quarters to newly organized schools wherever it may be needed.

Needs.—While progress has been great, our needs are greater. Our Baptist people, perhaps, make up one-half of the religious population (white) of South Carolina, and we, therefore, must stand for the Biblical training of one-half of the white people in the State. Mor than 200,000 souls are thereby allotted to us, whereas we have a Sunday school enrollment of 68,300, all told. As far as attendance alone is concerned, we have not compassed one-third of our task. This department must look toward the organization of schools in the 73 Baptist churches that have none, secure the facts from the 106 Sunday schools that have not made reports of their conditions, and enliven the 200 or more that suspend during the winter months, besides the more important and stupendous undertaking of leading the 6,354 officers and teachers who are already engaged in the work to greater efficiency, together with leavening the lump of 61,946 or more scholars with the spirit of progress. We need to enlarge our supply of tracts both by purchase and publication, to keep in closer touch with the workers by regular and systematic correspondence, and to reach the students in our schools and colleges with at least a brief course of Sunday school studies. But that the work may be enlarged, a larger appropriation must be made.

Statistics.—To this report, and as a part of it, is subjoined a table* of Sunday school statistics by associations. The preparation of it has required a vast amount of time and correspondence throughout the year, and we, therefore, ask a careful perusal of it. A few words explanatory may be necessary:

1. In the list of churches all are reported except those that have formally disbanded. Some are inert.

2. In the column of Sunday schools the branch or community schools are included, and the total will correspond with the aggregate number of superintendents on the list. Some are dormant, especially at this season of the year.

3. In the roll of evergreen Sunday schools, in some of the associations, conservative estimates were made, it being impossible to get exact reports from all of them on this matter. In such instances, however, the schools were given the benefit of every possible doubt. At least 191 take a vacation in the winter.

4. Only the number of Baraca classes. Home Departments and Cradle Rolls are given, as it was impracticable to get full statistics as to the members in these several departments. During the year more than 250 young men have been enrolled in our Baraca classes.

5. The Southeast association is entitled to the first distinction in the proportion of Sunday school attendance to the membership of the churches, having attained an 88 per cent. mark.

6. In the total for the per cent. ratio, Sunday school enrollment of the church membership, the average for the entire State is given.

7. Below the totals for the tables are affixed the number of churches and Sunday schools organized by the State Mission Board during the year, together with an estimated enrollment of the schools not reported in the table.

8. In every case of error, the mistake is not an overstatement.

(*Printed among other statistical tables.)

Respectfully submitted,

J. D. MOORE,
S. S. Secretary.

Report on the Report of the Sunday School Committee of the Executive Board

We heartily commend both the amount and quality of the work done by our Sunday School Secretary. This work being a new enterprise it is worthy of commendation that so much has been accomplished as the report shows. The work done in giving information which led to the formation of Baraca and Philathea classes, and in giving a new impetus to the Home Department of the Sunday school is a great gain.

1. We recommend that the work be continued, and we call upon the brethren to give the field secretary their hearty sympathy and co-operation.

2. We hope that the board will see fit to grant the suggestion of the report "to establish in Columbia, in connection with the work of the Secretary, a repository for Sunday school libraries, books on Sunday school work, literature and hymn books, etc."

3. That the statistical table gotten together by the secretary be printed in the minutes.

4. We recommend that the pastors ask the superintendents of Sunday schools to see to it that the schools make regular collections to this department of our work.

5. That another meeting of the summer assembly be held in Greenville, and that the friends of this enterprise be called on to make good the deficit on the expenses of the last meeting, amounting to $34.53.

Respectfully submitted,

R. W. LIDE,
J. H. EDWARDS,
W. C. ALLEN.

Standing Committee's Report on Sunday Schools

It is with gratitude to God that we report progress in this great and growing work during the past convention year. We have now in the State 971 churches and there are 968 Sunday schools, against 740 reported last year. However, some of these are in school houses in destitute sections where the churches are too remote for the children to attend. Some of our churches have no Sunday schools. These, however, are few. Some of our churches have schools in the summer but keep up the old custom of going into "winter quarters" when the weather gets cold. We should not be satisfied until every church and destitute section has an "evergreen" Sunday school.

We recommend to our Sunday school workers the importance of organizing institutes or conventions in every association of the State, the better to enable our secretary to reach the people. As this is foundation work, in fact it is the prearatory school for training children to enter every other department of Christian work. Statistics show that 85 per cent. of the converts that come into our churches are from the Sunday schools. This being true we ought to welcome every agency in carrying forward the work. The American Baptist Publication Society has done much in the past to further the work in our midst.

We want gratefully to acknowledge the help and express our gratitude to Dr. Frost and the Sunday School Board at Nashville for their generous help in the work. Our secretary, Rev. J. D. Moore, has been untiring in his efforts during the past year in organizing our workers for more efficient service in this department of Christian work. Among the noteworthy things accomplished largely through his instrumentality was the Summer Assembly which we heartily recommend should be made a permanent annual gathering at Furman University.

Respectfully submitted,

D. W. HIOTT,

For Committee.

Sixteenth Annual Report of the Board of Trustees of Connie Maxwell Orphanage

I hereby submit to the convention the report of the superintendent of the orphanage and all his helpers to whom the trustees have committed the work for the past year.

A meeting of the board of trustees was held in July at the orphanage, at which time full reports were considered and various matters pertaining to the good of the institution were planned and discussed. The trustees spent the night at the Orphanage, visited the different homes and noted with pleasure the progress and development during the past year, and the harmony existing between the several departments, due to the excellent work and good management of our efficient superintendent and his co-laborers. They have under their care about 200 orphan children and have received during the year 42.

I desire to call the attention of the convention to the deep interest of the trustees in the Orphanage, as manifested by their regular attendance at meetings. This July meeting, as usual, was well attended. Out of a total of fifteen members from all parts of the State there was but one absentee.

Last April we purchased a tract of land adjoining the Orphanage, consisting of 92 acres, for $2,852. We borrowed this amount of money and the interest on same is offset by the rents that we receive from the place. This land was bought, not because we needed it, but in order to protect ourselves from a class of people who would have injured our property.

Surely God's blessings are resting upon this great institution for orphan children, which He has given to the South Carolina Baptists, and we have an abiding faith and belief that the coming year holds even greater things in store for us than the past one has brought forth.

G. B. BUELL,
President.

TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF CONNIE MAXWELL ORPHANAGE.

GENTLEMEN:

It affords me pleasure to submit to you my annual report as superintendent of Connie Maxwell Orphanage, covering the work accomplished during the conventional year just closed. I also submit for your consideration signed reports from heads of various departments, feeling that it would be gratifying to you to have full details such as are here set forth.

Several changes in the working force have taken place, chief of which was the resignation of Rev. E. P. Easterling at the end of August. He did excellent service as teacher and agent. It was with regret that we gave him up. His work was successful in every respect, but was marked chiefly by his securing such an enlarged list of churches, Sunday schools and societies to co-operate in the plan of supporting an individual child at $6.00 a month.

Death has claimed three of the children since our last report. Daniel Coleman died December 29, 1906, Evie Johnson February 27, 1907, and Corrie Johnson, July 17, 1907. The year has been peculiarly hard in this respect. For nearly fifteen years there were only two deaths among the children at the Orphanage. It is sad to record such a number of deaths in a year, and we sorrow with the loved ones.

Miss Maria Richey, who had been a matron at Memorial Home since February, 1900, fell on sleep June 30, 1907, after a short illness. She had spent her years at the Orphanage in unselfish service for the children and in loyalty to all the plans adopted for the good of institution. She was a good, true woman and had a strong hold upon the affection of her children. Her big heart beat warm and true, and her going away from us is sorely deplored.

An interesting study is afforded by the classification of our expenses for the year, which indicates in a comprehensive way the cost of different departments of work at the orphanage.

1. The entire expense involved in the education of the children was $2,385.92, or $11.92 per capita. This amount covers salaries of all the teachers, the cost of books, stationery and fuel for the Maxwell (school) building.

2. The food account, including the cost of provisions purchased, and the expenses of both farms with salaries for superintendence, labor, etc., foots up a total of $8,955.22. We have also received shipments of provisions that were estimated to be worth $1,144.50. Adding the actual cash to the estimated value of food products shipped in we find that the food bill has cost almost exactly $50 per capita.

3. Clothing has cost in money $1,336.26. About half the children are provided for by friends who send a semi-annual box of winter and summer clothing. Others have sent occasional gifts of clothing or shoes. We estimate these gifts to have a valuation of $2,253. The clothing of the children has, therefore, averaged about $17.94 each.

4. The expense involved for all the matrons, medicines and nurse for the sick is $2,074.57, or $10.37 per capita.

5. For repairs, furnishing of the new home, and improvements, including addition to Durst Home we have expended $2,988.12.

6. The expenses of administration has cost $2,458.62, or eleven per cent. of the total. This includes the salary of the superintendent, printing and stationery, salary of the agent for part of the year, telephone, office help, and the traveling expenses of superintendent, agent, trustees and children. Twelve years ago, for example, the cost of administration was a little over 30 per cent. As our income has enlarged the proportionate expense for administration has decreased, notwithstanding the fact that fifteen years ago the superintendent's salary, the chief item, was only $300 less than at present.

7. The per capita cost of support for the children has been $85.25 (counting the actual cash expenditure and not estimating the clothing and provisions sent in.) This figure does not include any part of the expense of building, or of repairs.

8. The following tables exhibits the apportionments and collections for the year.

The amounts in the first column indicate the apportionment requested, and those in the second column the amounts contributed.

REPORT OF THE ORPHANAGE FARM.

It is my duty to look after the outside affairs of the Orphanage, which affairs may be divided into three departments, viz.: the farm, the dairy, and the sawing and splitting of the wood for the homes.

We have fifty acres in cultivation and plant about twenty-five kinds of farm products; there being 23 acres in corn, 1 1-2 in cotton, 7 in potatoes, 3 in peas, 2 in sorghum, 3 in beans, 1 in onions, 1 in turnips, 2 in tomatoes, 1 1-2 in strawberries, 1-2 in cabbage, 1-2 in collards and 5 in other vegetables.

We have an average of twenty cows giving regular flow of milk, and produce 22 to 30 gallons per day.

In addition to sawing and splitting 300 cords of wood, the twenty-two farm boys do all the milking and practically all the farm work except such heavy work as is done by one regularly employed farm hand. They are also frequently called upon to do odd jobs outside of the regular farm work.

Some of the boys are fine workers, while others are sorry and still others only medium.

Attached find an estimate of the various products of the farm which furnish fresh vegetables of some kind every day in the year.

75 tons ensilage, at $2	$ 150.00
7 tons stover at $15	105.00

Assistant Superintendent.

REPORT OF CONNIE MAXWELL ORPHANAGE SCHOOL.

ENROLLMENT.

The present enrollment is one hundred and sixty-nine.

The classification of pupils in the different grades is as follows:

Grade 1st, 23; grade 2nd, 26; Miss Edna L. Heard, teacher.

Grade 3rd, 26; Miss Annie McLaurin, teacher.

Grade 4th, 28; Miss Lillian L. Glenn, teacher.

Grade 5th, 21; grade 6th, 12; Miss Ida B. Easterling, teacher.

Grade 7th, 14; grade 8th, 9; Miss Elizabeth Grant, teacher.

Grade 9th, 6; grade 10th, 4; Miss Jeannette Murdoch.

COURSE OF STUDY.

Our course of study compares favorably with the course of study of other graded schools of the State.

During my three years work as principal it has been the aim of the school to improve the standard of scholarship. Each year we feel there has been some progress along this line. But we are not yet satisfied with our achievement and are still working for greater thoroughness in all grades.

Pupils completing our ninth grade are prepared for college work.

In rare cases, some of our boys and girls are able to attend college after finishing the course here. Last year one boy entered Furman University, one girl Greenville Female College, one girl Limestone, and this year one girl entered Hollins Institute, Va., and another Winthrop College.

But in most cases, the education our children receive here is their only capital on which to begin an active life. It is the aim of the tenth grade to give them a good intellectual foundation on which to begin their life work.

DISCIPLINE.

The discipline of the school, upon the whole, is good.

There are a few general rules for governing the school. Firmness and tact combined with sympathy and kindness are essential qualities of a successful teacher. We have reason to believe our teachers possess these qualities.

In conclusion it gives me pleasure to testify to the conscientious work of the teachers employed. All are heartily co-operating and are working earnestly for the good of the school.

MISS JEANNETTE MURDOCH,
Principal.

THE MECHANICAL BUILDING.

In this building we have the Laundry and Printing Department. The laundry work is done by the girls and the printing is done by the boys.

The boys do practically all the work in this department, from the setting of the type to mailing the Orphanage Notes, and it gives them both experience and training, so that when they leave the Orphanage they can support themselves.

At present there are eight boys in this department. Three of them started when our last session of school opened. All of the boys do as good work as you could expect from boys of their age.

We do all kinds of work, such as printing letter heads, note heads, bill heads, circulars and minutes. We have gotten out two sets of minutes this fall and are now at work on our third. The boys work only before and after school.

After a boy has had two or three years experience in this department, he can support himself with ease.

J. P. HARRISON,
Foreman.

REPORT OF THE MAXWELL FARM.

We have four mules, and with such hired labor as can be had when needed, cultivate about 125 acres with the following results.

800 bushels of corn	$ 720.00
45 tons of stover	675.00
50 bushels of peas	30.00
500 bushels of oats	450.00
500 bales pea vine hay	300.00

23 hogs, $8 a piece	184.00
cows for beef	175.00
Melons	100.00
200 cords wood	600.00
300 bushels potatoes	150.00
Turnips, 200 bushels	100.00
	$3,504.00

W. E. COOPER,
Farmer.

REPORT OF SEWING ROOM.

As sewing matron I have charge of the making of all the new garments worn by the children. The ninth grade girls work in the afternoon each day and the tenth grade girls in the morning. Other girls sew in the morning before school and also after school in the afternoon Much of the cloth that we use comes by gift from the mills, from individuals and from ladies' societies. We have made up about 1,200 garments the past year.

MISS SUE A. GILBERT,
Sewing Matron.

REPORT OF INFIRMARY.

This home is known as No. 1, or the Infirmary. It was the first building erected on the Orphanage grounds and was opened May 22, 1892.

One room in the building is reserved as a sick ward. When a child is sick enough to be placed in the Infirmary, a nurse is employed to take care of him.

During the year there have been four cases in the Infirmary. In the home there are twenty children, also a matron and a teacher. The ages of the children range from seven to seventeen. Every child is assigned some work in the home out of school hours. All of the house work is done by the girls, under the supervision of the matron.

The cooking, ironing, and churning are done in the home. Each month three of the large girls take their turn in the sewing room. Two days out of each month four girls work in the landry. We spend a busy homelike life. I have been matron of this building since July, 1903.

MISS CANIE CULBERTSON,
Matron.

REPORT OF MEMORIAL HOME.

During my brief stay of only one month at this home, I have enjoyed my work very much, and hope to remain here for sometime.

There are now twenty bright, happy children under my control, five boys and fifteen girls. Nineteen of these attend school regularly. The daily routine of work is carried on very nicely. Early in the morning about five o'clock the children arise, then make up their beds, and usually get breakfast by six. After this is served the house is cleaned up, dishes washed. ironing done, dinner prepared, and other odd jobs done before going to school at nine o'clock. The boys of this home work on the farm, and the larger girls go to the sewing room where all the children who do not get boxes of clothing are sewed for; all of them are kept busy, there is no time for idleness. But after they have finished up all their work, then comes the time for play.

Taken as a whole these children get along remarkably well with their work, and seem to take great interest and pride in doing it. They are also very obedient, considering the number of them.

MISS MARY IRBY,
Matron.

REPORT OF CHILDREN'S COTTAGE.

The Children's Cottage was completed and opened in May, 1894.

I took charge of this home soon after this, and have been matron for twelve years.

Twenty-five girls find a home in this cottage. six large girls, fourteen small ones, and five tiny tots, too small to go to school. The large girls cook, sweep, iron, wash dishes, make beds, take their time in the sewing room, and help the matron take care of the little ones.

The smaller girls have their duties also, sweeping yards, bringing in wood and so on. All of the girls. except the five who are too small, spend part of the day in school. Sweet milk is sent from dairy, and churning done in the home.

The clothes are washed in the laundry and sent home to be dried, starched and ironed.

Three or four of the largest girls go to Greenwood to church each Sabbath morning, and all go to chapel service in the afternoon.

MISS SUDIE BARKSDALE,
Matron.

REPORT OF DURST HOME.

I have charge of twenty-four girls in Durst Home. All of them are in school except two, who are with me twenty-four hours in the day.

Eight of the largest girls go to the sewing room, half of them go at a time, changing at the end of each month.

I have the domestic work assigned to those that are at home.

Thirteen of my children are small, none any older than eleven.

With the help of the large girls I teach them their Sunday school lessons for every Sunday. We all go to chapel services every Sunday afternoon.

I have been in the work nineteen months and like it very much.

MRS. A. C. WHITE,
Matron.

REPORT OF SMITH HOME.

This is quite a busy home, with twenty-five boys to look after, and two girls who assist with the household duties. We find no time to lose. Our five little house boys are kept busy from morn till night, and not much time for play since school opened. But they do wonderfully well, and seem happy most of the time. Our large boys are very much in demand, they are needed in so many places, at the Mechanical Building, on the farm, at the barn to look after the cows, and various other work about the place. Most of our milk we use for making bread, and regret that we cannot give the boys milk to drink as often as we did in the summer. The children are not allowed to drink coffee or tea. We are enjoying rabbits these days, as our boys are smart and catch a great many, and I am blad to say are very generous with them. They often divide with others about the place. The boys and girls are marked on tardiness and neatness at the tables and at service in the evening. Before breakfast we have the Lord's Prayer, at the other meals I call on one of the boys for a blessing. Two nights in the week we devote half an hour to song service, three nights to Bible recitations and prayer. After these services are over the teacher who lives in this home has the study period for preparing the lessons for next day. It is a pleasure to have Mr. Harrison, who has charge of the Mechanical Building, board in our home. He is a great help and comfort to us in our work. We are supplied with groceries on the first and fifteenth of the month, such as flour, lard, sugar, bacon, coffee, tea, meal and soda. We make from six to seven quarts of flour at a meal, and corn bread for dinner. Three quarts of meal is used for this. We cook one quart of hominy for breakfast. I am glad to say we have a good time eating potatoes and vegetables. Our boys are hearty eaters, and enjoy good health; we have very little sickness in our home.

As a matron I must say I am pleased with my boys' work. They are trying to do right, and are very kind and thoughtful to those of us who are thrown with them every day. The small things are what count. I need the prayers of those interested in this work, that I may be able spiritually, as well as physically, to do the work that is so much needed for these children.

MRS. LULA C. JACKSON,
Matron.

REPORT OF CONVENTION BUILDING.

I have been at the Convention Building fifteen months. Have charge of twenty-four boys ranging from five years of age to fourteen.

Keeping house for such a large family requires a great deal of work, but with so many willing helpers it is quite easy and pleasant.

It is surprising to see how willingly and skilfully these little boys do the work of girls in the house. Of course, all of them are not house boys. Two work at the printing office, two at the cow barn, three on the farm, and the remaining seventeen in and around the house. They change from the kitchen and dining room to house every month, which varies their work and makes it more pleasant.

They make the beds, and do it very nicely, sweep, dust, scour, sweep the yards, iron, wash dishes, set tables, and help cook. We have one large girl to help with the cooking and ironing. The boys cut all the wood we use. It is wonderful the amount of work these little boys do, and have plenty of time to romp and play. My boys, as true of other homes, have a base-ball ground, swings, and other amusements.

Although it is quite a large family of boys, and they came from many different homes, they get along beautifully together.

MISS CARRIE RICHEY,
Matron.

REPORT OF JUNIOR COTTAGE.

Junior Cottage sits somewhat back from the road and directly facing the Maxwell Building. It is a one-story wooden building, modest and home-like. The matron here superintends and helps in the work of the home. One of the Tenth Grade girls stays in the home and is greatly depended upon in helping, and the work is done efficiently.

Twenty-two little boys, aged from three to ten years, reside in this home. Sixteen of these little boys attend school. None of them work outside the home on account of being too yung. They are active and busy little workers. One set works in the dormitory. Their work is making beds, sweeping and dusting. Another set works in the kitchen and dining room. It is surprising how neat they do their work. They change this work every month. Others work in other parts of the house, and the small ones carry wood and do the little easy tasks.

I have been matron here nearly fourteen months. My work has been pleasant, yet I feel I am deficient in grace, wisdom and patience.

MISS ALMA ELGIN,
Matron.

REPORT OF MARTHA SMITH HOME.

The Martha Smith Home, built by Mr. Terrell Smith, of Williston, was finished in September, 1906. In this home there are twenty-three girls, ages from three to fourteen. All go to school except two.

As in all the homes, the work is done mostly by the girls. The four largest girls have the cooking, ironing and housekeeping in charge. Two girls cook for a month and then alternate, by doing little chores, as bringing wood and getting vegetables. The small girls aid much in the cooking.

The ironing is done by the girls who are for that month free from kitchen duties. This is done after school hours and before going to school in the morning. The small girls aid much also in the dusting and sweeping, each having her own little duty to perform.

MISS CORNELIA McLAIN,
Matron.

Report on Report of Orphanage

The committee to whom was referred the sixteenth annual report of the Connie Maxwell Orphanage beg leave to report as follows:

The continued prosperity of this institution, already so dear to us as a denomination, and its steadily growing hold upon our affection, are causes of rejoicing to us and of thanksgiving to God, who has so greatly blessed this enterprise.

We take pleasure in recognizing the faithful services of the Trustees and the deep interest they have manifested in discharging the trust committed to them, and feel that to this faithfulness and devotion is due much of the success that has crowned the past year's work. Their regular attendance upon the meetings of the board merits and is hereby given our hearty commendation. Their action in the purchase of the tract of land, mentioned in the report, meets with our approval, and we would recommend that the Convention endorse said action.

The report of Brother A. T. Jamison, the beloved and efficient superintendent of the Orphanage, is full of encouragement and incitement to yet greater interest in this work. We extend to him our sympathy in the loss to the institution by the death of Miss Maria Richey, matron at Memorial Home, and in the unusual number of deaths among the children, of whom, as the report states, three have passed away during the year.

His management of the Orphanage meets our hearty approval, and we think that a study of the report as presented to the Convention will show that the affairs of the institution are conducted with the greatest possible economy and in a manner well adapted to the furtherance of the purposes of the Orphanage.

One feature of the report is specially gratifying to us. We rejoice to note that the contributions to our Orphanage have exceeded the apportionment made for that object. Also would we note in this connection the increase in number of the associations throughout the State whose contributions passed the limit fixed for them. Of the thirty-seven (37) associations reported as contributing to the Orphanage, seventeen (17), or nearly one-half of the number, have contributed more than was apportioned to them. This fact is full of encouragement and deserves our recognition. Let us not, however, rest on our oars at this point, but continue in well doing as the years come and go. Like all the objects which our Convention fosters, our Orphanage must call for our increasing interest and contribution, and none of them, perhaps, have a stronger claim upon our Christian sympathy and benevolence than this home for the fatherless and the motherless. May the work of the past and its success incite to even larger efforts in the future.

RUFUS FORD,
Chairman.

Report of Board of Ministerial Education

At the annual meeting of the board held in Greenville, September 20, twenty-one young men, students in Furman University, appeared before us and made application for aid, some for tuition alone, others for tuition and for board in part or for the whole amount. Our board adopted a year ago the rule that aid should be limited to tuition and cost of board, as was stated in the last report to the Convention. This limitation seems to us wise, and will be the policy of the board in the future, unless otherwise instructed by the Convention. It might be mentioned also that it is a rule of the board, endorsed by the Convention, to require a recommendation from churches and executive committees to be renewed each year a young man is aided. Some pastors and others may dislike the trouble of signing the recommendation every year, but there is reason for thinking the requirement a wise one.

We have a larger number of beneficiaries this year than for some years past, and there are other students at Furman who have the ministry in view. Some of these latter may require aid before the session closes. Our young brethren take a good stand as students, and exert a wholesome influence in the institution. This year there has been organized an association known as the Ministerial Band among those students who have the ministry in view. Some who have not decided their future work are attending the meetings of the Band, and good results are expected. A number of ministers have made or will make addresses before the Band on various phases of the minister's life and work. There is also a Missionary Band of eight young men who look forward to foreign mission work.

We do not require large contributions from the churches for the support of this work, but as the number of young men aided has increased the amount needed is larger this year than for some time past. But if the pastors and others will present the claims of the work to the churches there will be no lack of sufficient means. If this work is laid before the churches not only will the needs of the board be met but the cry for more laborers in the vineyard will reach congregations where it is not now heard, and more of our young men will hear the call of the Lord and say, "Here am I, send me."

Some associations have standing committees on Ministerial Education. All ought to have such committees, just as they have them for other lines of the Convention's work. We appeal to the associations and churches not to discriminate against Ministerial Education. That the requirements are not as large as those of some other boards should not lead the churches to neglect our work entirely, as many now do.

The board, recognizing the valuable services of Brother Goldsmith, the Secretary and Treasurer, have by unanimous vote earnestly requested him to withdraw his resignation tendered this Convention. His place on the board would be difficult to fill. and we trust he will yield to the importunity of his brethren.

J. A. BROWN,
For the Board.

Report on Report of Ministerial Education

Each year the Board of Ministerial Aid makes its report and asks for larger contributions. There must be good reason for this according to the judgment of the Convention else it would have ordered it discontinued. And may it not be said that the Convention realizes that connection between them is vital and significant; vital in that the Convention is the only body that can be looked to with any assurance of aid, and significant in that the board so uses the money put into its hands as to help the Convention by giving it an educated ministry.

Indeed, the Convention recognizes the fact that its growth and effectiveness depend upon two things in respect to the ministry, the number and quality. It goes without saying that we need more and better equipped ministers to pastor our churches. The Board of Ministerial Aid serves the Convention and the churches at both of these points. The aid that it gives to ministerial students removes one objective difficulty, that of the lack of money to pay expenses at college. And certainly the fact that it is a means to help educate young preachers makes it a factor in giving the churches an educated ministry.

The board is to be commended for all of its requirements upon the applicant for aid. It is to be commended for limiting the amount given each applicant, for it is not a burden for the student to bear part of his own burden.

We would plead for a warmer place for this board in the hearts of the Baptists of South Carolina. We would not take a cent from the seminary student's fund, rather we would add to it, but are we not out of proportion with our gifts to the students at the seminary and those at Furman? There are twice the number of ministerial students in Furman, and yet we give almost as much to the students in the seminary as we do to the students in Furman. The comparison is not made to take from the former, but to secure more for the latter.

The board should be so furnished with money that it could make a college course possible to every boy in South Carolina who hears God's call to preach. Aid to the board binds the churches to the ministry. It is also an investment, and an investment in men, that gives large returns to the churches and the Convention.

J. S. SNYDER,
J. W. KING,
For Committee.

Report of the Aged Ministers' Relief Board

The work in behalf of our aged ministers and widows of the dead has been carried on through the year according to the very best judgment of the brethren to whom you committed it.

The number of beneficiaries has been between thirty-five and forty all the time—about half of them widows of the dead, to whom, in most cases, the aid given came as the greatest blessing.

Four beneficiaries—Brethren Barton, Kinard, Norris, and Holmes—have died since our last meeting.

On the other hand, we have added to the list Sisters Barton, Norris, Woodruff, Sanders, and Kinard and Brethren Cato, Cobb, Fowler, Moore, Gay, and Lee. That is, we have lost four and gained eleven wards during the year, and the total number at present is forty-five. All these are men who have worked a life-long for little or no pay, cultivating obscure and hidden fields, and in the evening find themselves in possession of nothing but weakened bodies and trembling limbs.

Our board has passed through the year without the aid and counsel of our honored chairman, Col. T. V. Walsh, who passed away from the earth just at sunset on Christmas day, 1906. He had long been a true and faithful friend to this, as to every other, Christian work. He dies as he had lived, in the full faith of the gospel.

This work is the purest kind of charity. We can never ask, "Does it pay?" for he who contributes to it can expect no kind of return, except the commendation of a good conscience. The amazing fact connected with it is that so many pastors, who themselves must soon be laid aside as old and poor, should get their own consent to neglect to lay the cause upon the hearts of the people to whom they preach. However, your board has no complaint to make. It never pays to whine. The growth of the work, both as to income and outgo, is steady, if slow, and a better day is not far away.

In accordance with a proposition made three years ago, the Christmas offerings of the churches and Sunday Schools have been set aside for interest-bearing investment, and we now have three thousand dollars secured to the board by good collaterals in real estate. When it becomes generally known at last that we have an invested fund, it may come to pass that some loving heart will swell the sum by a handsome gift. Already four or more persons in the State have named this work in their wills, and have so informed us. The interest on our invested fund this year has been two hundred and thirty dollars.

We turn ourselves over to the brethren of the churches, without whose loving help we could not carry on the work for a single day.

C. C. BROWN,
Secretary and Treasurer.

Sumter, S. C.

P. S.—In accordance with the instructions given at the last Convention, the proper papers of incorporation have been taken out, and the board is now a corporate body, capable of holding property, of suing and being sued.

Rev. G. D. Kinard died after receiving one payment. and his widow was enrolled in time to receive only two payments.

Mrs. L. R. Norris has received but three payments and Rev. A. P. Norris died in January, shortly after the first payment of the year was made.

Payments to the four new beneficiaries will begin with January.

Report on Report of Aged Ministers' Relief Fund

We, your committee on Ministers' Relief Board report, beg to report as follows:

1. We commend the fidelity and sacrifice of our wise and efficient secretary and treasurer.

2. We call special attention to the encouraging financial report of the year just closed.

3. In view of the increasing number of needy preachers and the smallness of the amount apportioned to each. we urge that the pastors lay the matter of an increased contribution upon the hearts of our people.

4. We urge that the work be given reasonably prompt attention in our churches, and that it be not left till the last offering of the year.

Report of Board of Trustees of Furman University

The Board of Trustees adopted so much of the president's semi-annual report as relates to a Hall of Science, as their report to the Convention, and directed that the president present the same to the body for action.

Our next task is a Hall of Science for the better accommodation of our Science Departments.

(a) Our present equipment in this department is wholly out of date. We have only one laboratory, that for Chemistry, and Prof. Watson deserves credit for the amount of work he has done with the poor facilities at hand. The courses offered by him include Chemistry, Geology, Physics with a brief word about Biology.

Wofford College, Wake Forest College, Newberry College, not to mention others, have recently added Science buildings to their equipment, and it is well known that the demand for, and the interest in Science studies has enormously increased in the past fifty years. It is no longer possible for a college not including these studies or providing for them inadequately, to count itself in the front rank. On the contrary, such colleges are distinctly in the rear, and will be more and more so in the future if they do not make up their deficiency in this field.

What used to be called the Humanities, that is, studies in Language, Literature, Mathematics, History and Philosophy are no longer regarded as furnishing sufficient equipment for life as we know it; and while these studies must never be displaced by those studies which concern themselves with the investigation of the phenomena of nature, yet these latter must find their place in every up to date college curriculum. We have not sufficiently taken account of the fact that the physical creation is not only the field of our life as a whole, but that our intellectual and moral life in particular rests upon a physical basis. If one of the objects of education is the adaptation of life to its environment, it must be admitted that the omission of adequate Science studies from the curriculum is one of the gravest defects, after the omission of religion. Our own courses of study in this department embrace only three of what might be called the fundamental Sciences, namely, Mathematics, Chemistry, and Physics; and excepting Mathematics, even those that we offer are brief. Psychology and Biology are not to be intelligently given for lack of laboratory facilities, while Botany and advanced Physiology, and more generally Zoology, are scarcely touched at all. We are not alone in being thus behind in our Science equipment. There is a very general deficiency throughout the South. We do not mean to intimate that we are wholly out-classed in this field, but are simply making these statements in order to present as clearly as we can, though not taking time to present them as strongly as they deserve, the considerations which make it imperative that we should advance at once to the task of providing a Hall of Science. The building should cost, with its furnishings, not less than $50,000. in which case it will be one of the best south of Washington City, and should provide laboratories for Chemistry, Biology, Physics, and Astronomy, Electricity and Psychology. It should also include a Museum of Natural History in which should be gathered collections in Botany and Geology, Mineralogy, Zoology, Anthropology, etc., and where the students would have a bird's eye view of the Natural Creation. We have already a nucleus of such a Museum in the Marshall collection which has recently been transferred to the old Fitting School recitation building.

We need not detail the conditions of the offer from the General Education Board, of $25,000. The very important question is, Can We Win That Offer? We believe we can, and in answer to the question "HOW," we submit a plan: (1) Let the Hall be named "The James C. Furman Hall of Science." There will be two advantages in that, or three. It will furnish a worthy memorial of the first president of the institution. It will enlist the sympathy and help of Dr. Furman's old students, and it will serve to emphasize our conviction of the comradeship and mutual support of Science and Religion. To name a Science Hall, which is built around the idea of laboratory work, after a great Christian preacher, is to set out in the boldest relief our conviction that religion not only has nothing to fear from Science. but that religion and science are but halves of the one whole truth.

(2) We must seek to enlist in this endeavor all our people. The last special effort appealed to a limited number and in the list of subscribers secured in the year 1903 there are about 700 names. In that effort, we sought out the man and woman of larger means. In this effort we must address the entire body of our people and this can be done only in a plan of campaign which shall reach every church and every individual in the denomination. Such a plan is the following:

Let the amounts to be raised be apportioned to the several associations on the basis of their contributions to State, Home and Foreign Missions, the Orphanage and Aged Ministers. Let the associations be formed in groups, as for example: Group one, North Greenville, Greenville, Laurens, Spartanburg and Broad River; group two: Beaver Dam, Piedmont, Pickens and Saluda, etc. Let the pastors and executive committees of these associations be brought together at the earliest moment in January and the whole plan be detailed to them and the amounts assigned to the several associations be apportioned by the several executive committees to the individual churches. These conferences of the pastors and executive committees of the associations should be held in consecutive order so as to allow the attendance upon them of the financial agent, Brother Easterling, or some other representative of the University who understands the plan of campaign and can lay it on the hearts of the brotherhood. Of course, it is understood that the financial agent will continue his present canvass while this universal canvass is going forward, but in many cases the amounts apportioned to the churches will be made without a visit from him.

Our experience in 1903 has taught us that it is impossible for one man to cover the State in such work, in twelve months. We believe, however, that it is entirely possible for such a campaign as has been suggested to reach practically the whole Baptist denomination within twelve months. If 703 subscribers in 1903 gave us $125,000.00, surely 115,000 people ought in the year 1908 without strain at any point, to yield us the $65,000 it is here proposed to raise. We therefore request the Convention to reaffirm the action of last year, by which the conditions of the $25,000 offer were accepted, to authorize and to provide for the plan of campaign here outlined, and to prsecute it with all zeal.

We cannot afford to lose the $25,000 offered for endowment. We cannot afford longer to neglect our Science department, where at least four men ought to be employed instead of one as at present. We cannot afford to rest upon our achievements. We must go forward, and here is the line of advance.

Respectfully submitted,

EDWIN M. POTEAT,
For Board of Trustees.

Report on Report of Trustees of Furman University

Your committee, to whom was referred the report of the Board of Trustees of Furman University, beg leave to report as follows:

1. That the Convention reaffirm the action of the Spartanburg Convention by which the conditions of the offer of $25,000 from the General Education Board were accepted.

2. That the proposed Hall of Science bear the name, "The James C. Furman Hall of Science."

3. That the plan of campaign outlined by the trustees be adopted, and the Convention authorize its prosecution with all zeal, and that the associations, through their Executive Committees, and the churches be urged to give all possible co-operation in the effort to provide in notes and subscriptions for the Science Hall by December 31, 1908, and so add $25.000 to the endowment of the university.

Report of Trustees of The Greenville Female College

We are pleased to report a large attendance and successful work at the college. The success of the institution may be considered remarkable in view of inadequate buildings and insufficient equipment. The attendance in the boarding department has reached 150. This number is almost twice that which can be accommodated in the college building, and between fifty and sixty of the boarders have rooms in the DeCamp building, and other rooms rented and used by the college for the second year and in another building, some rooms of which had to be secured because of the increased attendance this year.

The work being done by the college is good, remarkably good, when the need of a larger plant is considered.

We feel that college and its friends are to be congratulated upon the securing of Rev. O. L. Stringfield as financial agent. Brother Stringfield has had large and successful experience in such work, and in a few months of work for the college has already made many friends in the State for himself and his undertaking.

Brother Stringfield would not agree to enter upon this work unless the trustess were willing to undertake something worthy of the college and the denomination it represents in the State. So they decided to raise $100,000 for the institution. No sum less than this will meet the needs of the college now pressing to be supplied. We realize that we are not likely to secure so large an amount in one year, but it is our deliberate judgment that the immediate demands are such that it is vital to the interests of the college to raise $35,000 during the coming year. We must have not less than this amount to erect needed buildings.

We can wait for many desirable improvements needed by the college, but we cannot longer wait for larger dormitory space. for which we have vainly hoped each year for the last five years. The very life of the college would be imperiled by longer waiting. Baptist girls are turned away from our doors every year, and are compelled to seek admission elsewhere, a number going to institutions of other denominations. Unless we act promptly the tide of denominational favor, remarkable as regards patronage, will turn from us to more progressive institutions.

In view of the great, nay the imperative present needs of the Greenville Female College we ask that the Convention endorse the proposition that $100,000 be raised for this college, of which at least $35,000 shall be raised within the next twelve months.

(Signed) J. A. BROWN, For the Board

Report on Report of the Trustees of Greenville Female College

We, your committee to whom the report of the Trustees of Greenville Female College was referred, would report that we note with peculiar pleasure the achievements of this worthy institution of learning and would congratulate the management upon the notable success which they have accomplished with such limited means and inadequate equipment. The attendance has been very gratifying and calls upon our people for action. This institution, running over with our girls, has a right to ask of the denomination that at least sufficient room be provided to take care of the Baptist girls who are knocking at her doors for admission. We cannot, as heretofore, allow them to go to the colleges of other denominations without losing our denomination's strength. To pursue this policy is suicidal. In the judgment of your committee, adequate provision for the education of our girls, under denominational influences, is not one whit less necessary than provision for the education of our boys. If a distinction is to be made, we believe the education of our girls is even a greater necessity.

Therefore. we note with great pleasure the movement, which has been started by the trustees, looking to a better equipment of this school.

We recommend that this Convention heartily endorse the action of the trustees in securing Rev. O. L. Stringfield as financial agent for the college, and commend him and his cause to the generous consideration of all our people.

We especially recommend the endorsement of the effort to raise, during the next year, not less than $35,000 for a new building. This work is imperative. We cannot longer wait without irretrievable loss. This work ought to be pressed with all possible speed and energy.

We recommend further the raising, at the earliest date possible, of $65,000 additional, for the college, thus making in all $100,000 for the better equipment and enlargement of the usefulness of this school.

Respectfully submitted by Committee,

EDW. S. REAVES,
B. M. FOREMAN,
N. A. HEMRICK.

Report on an Educational Commission

Your committee who were charged to consider the desirability of the establishment of an Educational Commission for the Baptists of the State, respectfully submit the following report.

Some time since we sent out to the schools of the State which were supposed to be Baptist the following questions:

First. What is the exact bond of union between your school and the denomination?

Second. Are you employed by trustees or do you rent the plant?

Third. What is a fair valuation of the property in toto?

Fourth. What is the total indebtedness?

Fifth. Have you any endowment and how much?

Sixth. Is it your opinion that your school would look with favor upon the creation of an Education Commission for the Baptist schools of the State?

For obvious reasons these questions were not sent to Furman University or to the Greenville Female College.

Replies were received from all of the schools interrogated except the Edgefield Co-educational College and Limestone College.

The following information has been gathered from the reports thus received:

First. As to the North Greenville High School. L. A. Jones, the principal, is employed by trustees on a salary. The school is supervised jointly by the Board of Trustees and the Home Mission Board of the South Carolina Baptist Convention. The property is valued at $8,000. Total indebtedness $1,500. Endowment $100.

Second. As to the Spartan High School. The school belongs to the Spartanburg association and is conducted by Board of Trustees with the co-operation of the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. Value of the property not less than $20,000. Total indebtedness $7,000 plus no endowment.

Third. As to the Orangeburg Collegiate Institute. The property is owned by the Orangeburg association. It is rented and conducted by W. S. Peterson, president. The property is valued at $30,000. The indebtedness is "about $5,000." No endowment.

Fourth. As to the Welsh Neck High School. It is owned and controlled by a Board of Trustees, chosen by the associations of Eastern South Carolina The property is worth about $60,000. "The school may be regarded as practically clear of debt." The endowment is $25,000 subscribed.

The situation therefore, appears to be about as follows: Total value of school properties is $118,000; total indebtedness is $13,500 and more; the endowment amounts to $100 and $25,000 subscribed.

Your committee finds also that these schools have been operating so far as curriculum and constituency are concerned in entire independence of one another.

In their efforts for support equipment and endowment the following facts seem to us to be worth grave consideration.

During the last conventional year Furman University has been asking for the sum of about $35,000 in settlement of the subscriptions made four years ago. At the same time the university is forced to appeal for a separate $5,000 annually for current support. In addition to these the agent of the university is energetically canvassing for $65,000 for Science building and additional endowment, thus making in all about $105,000 being collected and asked for at this time.

Greenville Female College through its agent is making a great appeal for $100,000.

The Welsh Neck High School has but recently secured $25,000 in pledges which yet remain to be collected.

The Orangeburg Collegiate Institute has had an appeal in the field asking for $10,000 for equipment. At the same time the Spartan High School and the North Greenville High School have had employed agents canvassing for somewhat indefinite amounts.

Putting the amounts at which these two schools are aiming at $10,000 each it will be seen that the denomination has had on hand during the last year propositions involving the not insignificant sum of $260,000. They have had employed six paid representatives in the field. We feel furthermore bound to recognize the fact that the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary during the next eighteen months is to appeal to Southern Baptists for $400.000, a part of which must necessarily come out of South Carolina.

There is evidently in such a situation as this a complication of interests tending towards confusion.

The longer this independent and unavoidably conflicting order of things is allowed to continue, the more difficult, of necessity, will it become for any one of the schools to make a successful appeal to the denomination for money.

We do not believe that the churches of the State would receive with approbation the creation of an unnecessary piece of new denominational machinery. It clearly would not be wise to create an additional authority that might limit or embarrass the Boards of Trustees which are now charged with the management of the affairs of the several schools.

But, if by an Education Commission we are to understand denominational oversight in organizing our schools into a natural and equitable co-relation, and to rationalize and systematize the work of support, equipment and endowment, and to supervise the establishment of new schools; doing this in such a way that one agent and one campaign shall have in consideration the needs of all of the schools, or that all of our energies shall, during a given period, be concentrated on one critical point; at the same time the relative grade of the several schools remaining practically as at present, and we would say, without a designated head or heads, your committee believes that the commission might do a highly valuable work.

We therefore recommend that at a time to be ordered by the Convention, the Convention shall resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole to consider this report, and to formulate a plan by which such an Education Commission shall be constituted by the Convention.

H. A. BAGBY,
For Committee.

Report of Woman's Work

More than nineteen hundred years have passed since Mary Magdalene, standing in a garden just outside the walls of Jerusalem, heard from the lips of Jesus the story of His resurrection, and also the command, "Go tell my brethren."

Swiftly she ran, exclaiming, "I have seen the Lord, and He is risen indeed!" Joyfully she obeyed Him, the Emancipator and loving friend who had burst asunder her bonds of degradation and had conferred upon her liberty of conscience.

In every age of the world's history since Mary have been found women who also longed to tell the blessed story of His death and resurrection; but for centuries they were so hedged about by prejudice their religious activities were, to an extent, suppressed. But prophecy must be fulfilled. David cried, his eyes being touched by the finger of God, "The Lord giveth the word: the women that publish the tidings are a great host."

To the women of the present day has been opened wide the door of opportunity, and the number of those who pass its portals "to possess the land" is ever increasing.

The first record of woman's missionary organizations in America is October, 1800, when the Boston Female Society for Missionary Purposes was formed by the Baptists and Congregationalists. In 1861, a Woman's Union Mission was organized in New York City. In 1881, the Baptist women of the North organized, in Boston, the Woman's Baptist Foreign Mission Society; and in 1888, the Southern Baptist women organized the Woman's Missionary Union, auxiliary to Southern Baptist Convention. This organization, which has grown and strengthened each year, celebrated its nineteenth birthday at Richmond during the month of May. The sum total to all objects of benevolence contributed by Southern Union during its existence is $1,441,081.37.

Woman's work for missions was organized in South Carolina in 1874 under the direction of Rev. John Stout, of Society Hill. In 1876 the Baptist State Convention passed resolutions recognizing the importance and value of the work accomplished by the Central Committee, who for thirty years labored faithfully to promote the mission work of the State.

At Greenville, five years ago, the Baptist Mission Societies of South Carolina were organized into the Woman's Missionary Union, auxiliary to Baptist State Convention.

The Treasurer's report that year showed contributions amounting to $6,789.05. Two years later, the contributions were $12,977.98. Last year the Treasurer reported $17,305.06, and this year the figures stand at $21,787.45, an increase of $4,482.39 over previous year. Five years ago two hundred and eighty-seven Woman's Missionary Societies and sixty-one Sunbeam Bands contributed through the Union; now there are enrolled five hundred and twenty-one Woman's Missionary Societies, one hundred and ten Young Women's Auxiliaries, and two hundred and twenty-six Sunbeam Bands.

The Woman's Missionary Union of South Carolina contributed during the year just past to—

We report with sadness the resignation and removal to another State of our beloved president, Mrs. J. D. Chapman. Her office was given to a worthy successor, and notwithstanding our great loss, we expect our work to prosper. We have made $25,000 our aim for the new year, and we enter upon it with high hopes; for this is our keynote, "Larger things in prayer, study, organization, and contribution."

And so, brethren, we lay our work before you. May the spirit of God lay it upon your hearts to continually remember us in your prayers. We thank you for every kind remembrance, and we feel that our success, in great measure, has been due to your sympathetic co-operation. We beg for a continuance of supplication that our work may go rapidly forward; that we may ever have true wisdom and that humility of spirit which will always enable us to say, "Not unto us. O Lord, not unto us, but to Him be the glory both now and forever. Amen."

Respectfully submitted for the Union,
MRS. A. L. CRUTCHFIELD,
Corresponding Secretary.

Report on Home Missions

There is always wisdom in adhering to a line of work in which we have been signally blessed. The Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention has been one of the most valuable agencies in the spiritual achievements of our Southland.

In city, in village, in town and in country, it has left marks of its power in the shape of active churches which have become leading factors in all denominational work.

It has gone with the emigrant to the West and helped him to found great spiritual empires which today are in the vanguard of our work.

Our great cities are calling for help, which more than taxes the resources of State Boards, and the Home Board has done well to give a helping hand in these centers of trade and of so many influences which imperil our civilization.

The great need for help in "Cuba," in "The Isle of Pines" and in "Panama" is a constant call that the Home Board is trying to meet and which it is meeting with some degree of success.

The work among the negroes is, as Jesus said about the poor, "always with us," but the board is feeling encouraged with the results, and we mention this department of its work as the problem of many decades.

The "Mountain School" is a great spiritual lever, and we feel sure the board made no mistake in laying hold of it, that it might help in the service of Christ.

The evangelistic feature of the board's work has ceased to be an experiment, and is looked to as one of the most helpful departments of its work. May its power multiply as the years go by.

We would call attention to "Our Home Field," in its new form, as an "Illustrated Mission Magazine," and would urge upon our churches the great gain which will come to them by circulating it among their members.

We append the following facts as some of the results of the board's work the past year: Baptisms, 18,798; received by letter, 14,207. Total, 33,005 additions. Churches constituted, 271; houses of worship built and repaired, 309; Sunday Schools organized, 703; Bibles and Testaments distributed, 33,747.

A. M. SIMMS.

Report on Foreign Missions

In this report we wish to give briefly the dark and the bright sides of foreign mission work. That it has both a dark and a bright side every one knows who has given the subject serious consideration. It is to our advantage to know these facts and to face them intelligently and courageously. Let us look at some of the dark features presented on mission fields. There we see difficulties, such as strange tongues, social customs, racial antipathy, false religions, international complications, lack of equipment and lack of workers, all of which limit our efficiency. But perhaps the greatest hindrance lies at our own doors. Our indifference to the world's need of the gospel, and our disregard of our Lord's command to preach the gospel to all the world, seems to me to be the darkest aspect of the whole question. Surely we do not feel the authority and urgency of His great commission, else we would make haste and delay not to keep His commandment. Our gospel is universal in its aim and adaptation. It has triumphed gloriously in every age and every country where it has been faithfully preached. It is still the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth. We have been selfish in our enjoyment of it, when we should have been wholly unselfish.

But let us turn our attention to a more cheerful aspect of the subject. There is a brighter outlook on our mission fields. There is a better understanding among the nations, an increasing readiness on the part of the people to hear the gospel. Social, racial and national barriers are giving way before the gospel. More missionaries are on the fields, and the native workers are increasing in numbers and efficiency. And better equipment for our workers is coming slowly but surely.

Let us look at another aspect of the work in our own land. The number of sympathizers and workers is steadily increasing, wealth is increasing in the hands of Christians, and there is a growing conviction among us that the wealth belongs to God. Missionary intelligence is increasing, through the distribution of missonary literature, mission study classes, bands and other agencies. The laymen's movement is already bringing forth fruit, and it gives promise of becoming a mighty evangelizing force in the near future. Many of our pastors are giving added emphasis to the call to evangelize the world. Let us hear afresh with a new meaning to many of us the ringing command of our Lord, "Go ye therefore and disciple all nations, baptizing them with the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you, and lo I am with you always, even unto the end of the age."

Let us recognize His authority and say, here am I, send me. May the Lord of the nations give us a clearer vision of world-wide conquest, a spirit of holy audacity, and an enthusiasm commensurate with our duty!

W. T. TATE,
Chairman.

Report on Young People's Work

To make a creditable report on any one of our agencies for good, at least two things are indispensable, namely, a reliable source of information, and a person or persons to get and present that information. Your committee have not been able to secure as much information as they desired, hence their report is not all that it should be. It seems, however, that the last B. Y. P. U. Convention, held in Columbia in April, was one of the best ever held in this State. Surely the general subject for discussion, "Soul Winning," was of momentous importance, and judging from the printed reports, the papers read, and the oral discussions, must have been very profitable. Moreover, it is evident, from the large attendance, that the interest and enthusiasm were very considerable. Some progress in the work seems to have been made during the year.

And yet it must be known to all who have given any attention to the matter that but little is being done, on the whole, as compared with what should be done when the importance of the work is considered. The minutes say, "About 50 churches and unions reported," whereas there are about 900 churches in the State. In the table of "partial statistics," 26 churches are named as having each a union. It should be added that "some societies and churches made verbal reports only." Of these unions the smallest and largest numbers on the rolls are 20 and 202. The "remarks" in the table show that some of these unions are studying diligently and contributing liberally; let us hope that others are going better than the table indicates.

When a cause for the few young people embraced in the B. Y. P. U. is sought, it may not be easily found. Perhaps one of the chief causes is the superficiality and worldliness characteristic of a large percentage of the young and the old in our churches. If this is so, the need of earnest work in the Baptist Young People's Union appears all the greater. And if the suggestion is not correct, surely the young people should get the training for service which can be had by faithful study and activity. To accomplish the greatest good in this department of church work, there must be much thought, diligence, perseverance, and prayer.

The committee would recommend, as an aid in a successful union, "The Manual of the B. Y. P. U." published by the Sunday School Board, for 50 cents, and "Service," the organ of the B. Y. P. U. A., published in Chicago. But we are convinced that nothing will take the place of earnest thought and enthusiastic activity and prayerful devotion of the leader, or leaders at least.

J. L. FREEMAN.

Report on Evangelism

Your committee appointed in Spartanburg "to direct the special work of evangelism during the year" 1907 would report that, in accordance with the instructions of the Convention, an Institute on Evangelism was held in Greenville in January in connection with a special evangelistic meeting conducted by Dr. Broughton, of Atlanta, Ga. The Institute was attended by about one hundred pastors from many parts of the State, and was in every way inspiring and helpful. At this meeting your committee sent forth an appeal for concert of prayer; and the request was made of the pastors to preach special sermons with a view to arousing our people to a sense of their duty to the lost. It has been our desire (to quote a sentence from a speech of Brother Parrott) "not only to multiply evangelistic services, but to quicken evangelistic service."

Your committee arranged the associations of the State in twelve groups, and appointed a local committee in each group to further the work within its bounds. Almost all of these committees have held Institutes on Evangelism. These meetings were fairly well attended by the pastors; and in every instance we are assured of good results. Some of them proved to be meetings of great power, and spread an earnest spirit through the associations represented.

We quote a few sentences from the reports of the chairmen of the local committees:

Dr. Chapman writes: "The influence of the meeting" (held in Anderson) "may not have reached all the country, but many have been greatly helped." Dr. Ford reports that a meeting held in his group of associations resulted in the purpose to employ an associational missionary. Of an Institute held in Florence, Dr. Oliver writes: "I have never known brethren, one and all, to enter more heartily into anything: nor have I seen a sweeter, finer spirit of fellowship. The Holy Spirit was manifestly present; and conversions and baptisms have followed the meeting." Dr. W. M. Jones writes of an Institute held in Denmark: "The meeting was pervaded with a deep sense of the need of evangelism in our churches. It is difficult to estimate results. * * * But until the summer meetings evangelism dominated every other subject for consideration that came before our churches and pastors." Dr. C. E. Burts reports: "Two Institutes on Evangelism have been held in this group in which all three of the associations were represented. * * * There have been large ingatherings in many of the churches throughout the group." Brother W. E. Wilkins, chairman of the group composed of Fairfield, Santee, and Lexington Associations, reports: "A successful conference of representatives of the associations was held in Columbia in connection with the Baptist Union revival. The most fruitful work was done by the Executive Committee of the Fairfield Association. They divided the weaker territory among the stronger churches, asking these to see that meetings were held in the weaker churches. The plan worked great good, with large ingatherings."

It is not possible for your committee to report the results, in conversions and baptisms, that have come from the many Institutes which have been held. We have reason to believe that when the statistics of additions to our churches have been compiled, it will be seen that 1907 has been one of the record-breaking years. To what extent these Institutes have contributed to this rich harvest we cannot tell; but we praise God for the good year and would urge that our pastors and churches give this great work no second place in their plans and prayers.

Report on Temperance

Your committee is profoundly impressed with the belief that as an offset to intemperance the best policy to be pursued by our people is to remove the temptation to strong drink from the masses by prohibiting the manufacture and sale of it wherever and whenever it is possible to do so. It is evident that our people are fast coming to view this question in the same way. We regard this the best policy, because it is the only righteous way to deal with this monster evil. No amount of legislation, however cunningly devised or plausibly presented, that legalizes the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, will ever again receive the endorsement of the Christian people of our land.

Prohibition sentiment has gotten such a strong hold upon our Southern people that the actual results may be said to be phenomenal. Throughout the Southern States the lawmakers are having to deal with it as never before. Much has been accomplished in our own State; and had the Brice Law remained in force on our statutes until now, doubtless most of the counties in South Carolina would have been enjoying the benefits of prohibition, and like those which under that law obtained legal prohibition, would now be demonstrating the fact that prohibition does prohibit, as much as the law against larceny prohibits stealing, if not more so. But alas for the compromise measure passed by our Legislature at its last session! Your committee refers to the "Carey-Cothran Law." While we rejoice in the removal of the State dispensary, we deplore the fact of an ever-increasing number of county dispensaries. whose influence is just as pernicious, and carries with it the same debauching, peace-destroying, soul-damning power as did the State dispensary. We are hoping, however, that better counsels will prevail, and even at the next sitting of the present legislature there will be a law enacted that will greatly help us in the fight against the legalized sale of liquor in our State.

Since Georgia and Alabama have thrown off the yoke, it is hoped that South Carolina will emulate the example; and then we may confidently expect North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, Texas, and possibly Louisiana to line up and present a solid front, thus forming a battle line for a great national conflict with the sale of liquor in any legal form.

It is gratifying to note that the new State of Oklahoma has imbedded in her constitution a clause forbidding the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors within her borders.

Already the wholesale liquor dealers are trembling before the onward march of prohibition. Hear an extract from a recent report of the executive committee of the Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association of New York. The following language appears in the report: "Prohibition is the most serious question that confronts you today. Pure food questions, internal revenue questions, all deal with the manner in which your merchandise should be sold. The critical and impending question, however, which confronts you is not how you shall sell or brand your product, but whether you are to be allowed to sell at all; not whether there shall be certain legislation regulating your business, but whether you are to be legislated out of business." And then the report goes on to suggest methods by which the objectionable features of the business may be eliminated, thus hoping to give to the business by legal enactment a degree of respectability by which its life may be prolonged. But our people have had enough of this kind of legislation, especially in South Carolina.

A brighter day has dawned; our most sanguine hopes are being realized. The most optimistic views need not now be called rose-colored. Our country is yet to be rid of that curse which now and heretofore has filled our jails and penitentiaries with criminals, our alms-houses and lunatic asylums with victims, and sent forth the red-handed assassin and the heartless incendiary to perform their work. The sorrowing hearts of drunkards' wives and mothers are to be made to rejoice, naked and hungry children will be fed and clothed, while parents will enjoy a feeling of comparative security for their boys.

The way will be made easier for the evangel of love and mercy to enter the homes thus protected, carrying to them the Christ instead of the demon of strong drink, driving back the dark shadow of human woe, giving to them the light of hope rather than despair, joy in place of sorrow, happiness rather than misery, and last, but not least, heaven instead of hell.

Your committee would call attention to the fact that under the present interstate commerce law whiskey agents may come into prohibition territory and take orders for liquor, and ship the same through the express companies, thus flooding our country with liquor, regardless of our prohibition laws. Thus does the United States government override and set at nought the statutory laws of the States, and thereby trample States' rights into the dust. We hope in the near future to find a remedy for this, and would respectfully recommend that this body at this meeting in some suitable way memorialize Congress, urging them to give us relief from such injustice. We feel safe in saying that wherever legal prohibition prevails there is far less drunkenness than under either the bar-room or dispensary regime, notwithstanding the facts mentioned regarding the interstate commerce law.

Respectfully submitted,

H. L. BAGGOTT.

Memorial to Congress

The sentiment of the people of the United States against the sale and use of alcoholic beverages is rapidly gaining strength. Four States have already voted in prohibition. Eighteen others are prohibition in part, and in others there are only a few saloons. In fact, one-half of the territory of the United States is either under prohibition or local option. In 1870 the number of people living in "dry" territory was 3,500.000. In 1907 the number is 33,000,-000, almost a tenfold increase in thirty-seven years. The governors of seven States have recently spoken strongly and unequivocally in condemnation of the liquor traffic; and congressmen, lawyers, editors, physicians, teachers, and business men, as well as preachers and a host of devoted women, are enthusiastically giving their moral and pecuniary support to the cause of temperance and sobriety.

But the friends of prohibition are greatly embarrassed in their movements and often defeated in their efforts by federal interference. This interference is twofold:

First. United States revenue officers are allowed to issue licenses to sell alcoholic liquors to men residing in prohibition States, a practice that is not only discourteous to those States but which really defeats the will of the majority of their citizens.

Secondly, Congress under the interstate commerce law allows the manufacturers of alcoholic liquors who live in States where the manufacture and sale of such liquors are forbidden, to ship them into prohibition States. This law is unjust, and therefore unwise. It forces a State which is under prohibition law to grant to people living beyond its borders rights and privileges which it denies to its own citzens. Moreover, it ignores the great fundamental principle of our republic, viz., the right of local self-government, and is therefore thoroughly repugnant to the spirit of democracy.

In view of these facts we, the Baptist people of South Carolina, assembled in annual convention in the city of Orangeburg, do hereby respectfully and earnestly request and urge the Congress of the United States now in session to give us relief from the aforesaid practices by appropriate and adequate legislation. Respectfully submitted,

Orangeburg, S. C., Dec. 7, 1907.

Memorial to Legislature

In the last general election in South Carolina the people of the State, by their votes, declared that the State dispensary was a harmful and therefore undesirable institution, and the Legislature, acting in harmony with the expressed wishes of the people, abolished the State dispensary and gave us in lieu thereof the county dispensaries with county option. Recent developments have disclosed the fact that a county dispensary is only a reproduction on a reduced scale of the State dispensary, and sustains to the county in which it is located a relation analagous to that which the State dispensary sustained to the entire State. The county dispensary, like the State institution after which it was modeled, is centralized political power under liquor domination. It is obnoxious to democratic principles in its conception, its character, and its conduct. It is ever ready to impose itself upon unwilling communities in the face of petition and protest. It is alert, active, and aggressive, and pushes the sale of liquor as rapidly as possible and then boasts of its revenues, and, like the State dispensary, its corrupt and corrupting mother, it does not hesitate to resort to political trickery in order to increase its traffic.

In view of these facts we, the Baptists of South Carolina, assembled in convention in the city of Orangeburg, do hereby respectfully request and urge the Legislature to repeal the Carey-Cothran law and enact in its stead a prohibition law covering the entire State, and to make ample provision for its rigid enforcement. Respectfully submitted,

Orangeburg, S. C., Dec. 7, 1907.

Dispensary at North Augusta

The Aiken County dispensary board has recently decided to establish a dispensary at North Augusta, S. C., a residence suburb of Augusta, Ga. This action of the board was taken in face of the earnest protest of 75 per cent. of the citizens of North Augusta, who desire their town to be free from the corrupting influences of a liquor saloon. Moreover. the prohibition law of Georgia will become operative in January, 1908, after which date the sale of alcoholic liquors will be forbidden in Augusta, Ga.

Now, the Aiken board in establishing the North Augusta dispensary under these circumstances is committing a double offense of an exceedingly grievous nature, an offense both against good morals and against the inherent rights of a free and intelligent people. It is not only imposing, under the cover of a loosely worded law, an essentially immoral and degrading institution upon an unwilling and indignant people, but it is also preparing in North Augusta a place that will be attractive to a very undesirable element of the prohibition city of Augusta, thus subjecting the citizens of North Augusta to an almost intolerable nuisance. Therefore, be it Resolved. That we, the Baptists of South Carolina, assembled in annual convention in Orangeburg, December 9, 1907, do hereby unanimously condemn the action of the Aiken County dispensary board, and do most respectfully petition his excellency Governor M. F. Ansel to interfere, if possible, and to restrain the said board from establishing the proposed dispensary; and if the said board cannot be restrained from action in this way, we request his Excellency in his next annual message to the Legislature to call attention to the matter and ask for relief by appropriate legislation.

Respectfully submitted,

Report of Committee on Obituaries

O. C. BARTON.

O. C. Barton was born September —, 1847, in the upper portion of Greenville County. He was converted at the age of eighteen, and was baptized into the fellowship of Wolf Creek Church, Spartanburg Association, in 1865, by John G. Landrum. His opportunities for an early education were very limited, though he made the most of such opportunities. At the age of 39, in the year 1886, he was ordained to the ministry by the Ebenezer Welcome Church, Greenville County. the ordaining council being A. D. Bowers, Lud Vaughan, and J. L. Norman. He at once entered the active work. In the North Greenville Association he served as pastor, the Head of Tyger, 1887-1891; Glassy Mountain, 1887-'89, '93 and '94; Oak Grove, 1891; Mt. Lebanon, 1898 and '99; Motlow's Creek, 1886 to 1897, possibly with the exception of one or two years; Pleasant Hill, 1893; Lima, 1896; and for a time Ebenezer Welcome and Highland. In the Spartanburg Association he served the Fairview Church in 1893 and in 1898; and the Green Pond Church, 1905 and part of 1906. He also served for a time the church at Columbus, N. C. He baptized into the fellowship of these churches many happy converts.

Brother Barton lived near Gowensville, Greenville County, until 1899, when he moved to Spartanburg, where he lived till his death. He was married twice, the first time to Mary L. Barnett, who died of 1898. Of this marriage there was only one child, a daughter, who died in 1901. He married his second wife, Amanda Stephens, at Spartanburg, and of this marriage there were no children.

Brother Barton's health made it necessary that he should be received as a beneficiary of the Board for Ministerial Relief in October, 1905, and he remained thus until his death on December 4, 1906. He was a faithful and earnest preacher and the Lord blessed his labors. Where the Lord called he worked earnestly and well, and found a joy in the Master's service. He has been passed on in the line of promotion to a higher and greater service.

NATHANIEL SIDNEY JONES.

Nathaniel Sidney Jones died at his home, Clio, Marlboro County, on the morning of December 7, 1906. Only a few months before his death he entered upon his work as pastor of the Clio and Judson churches. He was born near Raleigh, N. C. He was educated at Wake Forest College and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, and was well equipped for the great work to which he had dedicated his life. He had held pastorates in Wake County, N. C., Raleigh, Salisbury.

Brother Jones had been pastor at Clio and Judson but a short while, but during this brief period he made a fine impression and there was great promise of usefulness. He was a most excellent preacher, a man of striking individuality, and unusual magnetism. He was ill only a few days, and his death was a great shock to his devoted flock and his relatives. He left a widow, a daughter of Rev. Rufus Ford. He had not been in the State long enough for his brethren to know him, but he came to us with a good record, and he left behind a good name. He was stricken with pneumonia and passed away in a few days. He was buried at his former home, Raleigh, N. C.

JASPER T. HIERS.

Jasper T. Hiers was born in Colleton County, May 31, 1843. He was baptized at Little Salkehatchie Church and was ordained there in 1878. He spent his life in his native county. He was a brave Confederate soldier, the color bearer of his regiment, the Eleventh South Carolina. He lost his right arm at Fort Johnson, January 12, 1864. He attended Furman University in 1874, '75. He was ordained at the Little Salkehatchie Church in 1878. For several years he was school commissioner of Colleton County. He was moderator of the Colleton Assciation a number of years, and was Vice-President of the Baptist State Convention at the session held in Columbia in 1905. He was frequently seen in the Conventions and Associations, for he was deeply interested in all the departments of the denomination's work, and he loved to be with his brethren.

Brother Hiers was pastor of Doctor's Creek, Great Swamp, Zion, Bedon's, Bethlehem, Round O, Bethany, Pleasant Grove, and Smoaks. He had the love and confidence of the people wherever known. He was popular with his churches and was a preacher of considerable force and a man of great spiritual power. He was quiet and modest, gentle and courteous, kindly and thoughtful, unassuming and retiring in his disposition, but thoroughly consecrated to the work, and brave and courageous in the defense of the right and truth.

Brother Hiers died at his home near Walterboro, S. C., on the morning of January 24, 1907. He had not been well for some time, but his health seemed improved and at last the end came suddenly. He married a daughter of Rev. S. W. Ackerman, and was very happy in his home relations.

GEORGE D. KINARD.

George D. Kinard, of the Bethel section of Barnwell County, passed away in January, 1907, having reached his fourscore years. He was a brave Confederate veteran. He was wounded in the battles of that great war seven times. In 1869 he was ordained to the work of the ministry at the Bethel Church by Brethren W. H. Dowling, J. M. Hoover, and Moses Boynton. He preached faithfully and effectively for about twenty years, serving churches in the Barnwell and Savannah River Associations. He was loyal to Baptist doctrines and principles, and was faithful unto death. For several years previous to his death he was a beneficiary of the Aged Ministers' Relief Board, and without which aid he and his excellent and aged wife might have suffered for the necessaries of life.

Brother Kinard was an unassuming, modest man, not often seen in the general meetings of the denomination, but like thousands of others, he went quietly about his Lord's work, and was used of Him in turning many unto righteousness. He leaves behind a good name, which is better than great riches. There are very many today who rejoice that they ever knew this good man.

ALEXANDER POPE NORRIS.

(By N. N. Burton.)

Alexander Pope Norris, second son of William Norris, was born April 25, 1821, at the family homestead in Edgefield district, now Saluda County, one mile southwest of the present town of Batesburg At the age of eleven he was one of a multitude converted at a camp-meeting at Sardis Church, during the great revival of 1832, and on August 11 of that year he, with thirteen others, was received as a candidate for baptism by the Cloud's Creek (now West Creek) Church. He was baptized by the pastor, Rev. Zedekiah Watkins, who took him in his arms and gently laid him in the liquid grave.

In his nineteenth year he was married to Miss Louisa Head by her stepfather, Rev. William Brooker. To them were born and reared ten children.

He was licensed to preach when about nineteen years old. On July 3, 1843, he was ordained to the deaconship, and on July 24, 1846, he was set apart to the gospel ministry at his home church, Rev. Zedekiah Watkins, Rev. William Watkins, and Rev. William Brooker constituting the presbytery. It was his desire and the church record shows that he was ordained to the work of an evangelist. The record of succeeding years bears abundant testimony that he was eminently fitted for and that he was unusually successful in the work of soul winning. He was pastor of a large number of churches, principally in the counties of Barnwell, Orangeburg, Aiken, Lexington, Richland, Edgefield, and Saluda, this State, and several in Georgia. He was also pastor for a time at Troy and Union Springs, Alabama. As a pastor his work compared favorably with the best in his day, but, as already noted, his special gift and his most signal success was in leading sinners to the Saviour. He kept no record of those converted under his ministry and baptized by him, but the number was doubtless in the thousands. For several years during his later life he was chaplain of the penitentiary, and during that period eight hundred of the inmates professed conversion. His confidence in the genuineness of the work was strengthened or confirmed by letters or visits after their terms had expired. He was a preacher of the gospel sixty-seven years and an ordained minister for sixty-one years.

His educational advantages, while far below those enjoyed at the present, were among the best in his day outside the State college. The foundation and a considerable part of his educational structure was the work of Prof. Knox, a noted educator of that time. He attended other schools, but the most noted was the one presided over by the celebrated Dr. Wm. B. Johnson, from whom Brother Norris received a large part of his theological training. His gifts as a preacher were far above the average, and consequently he was much in demand by the most cultivated congregations. The contact thus brought about was a prominent factor in his mental development and in that culture which he so richly possessed. He was in an eminent degree a student of the one Book. His familiarity with the Bible was remarkable. His sermons and prayers abounded in quotations from Scriptures. He was an orator, born and made. When at his best his appeals were almost irresistable. Large audiences, of all classes and conditions, heard him with delight, and many to their everlasting profit.

It will be news to many to know that A. P Norris was among the first to preach the gospel in what is now the Gate City of the South. It was in a small school-house on the spot where the First Baptist Church of Atlanta now stands. A few years ago a friend of Brother Norris, who knew the above fact, sent him a picture of the little school-house and one of the new, magnificent church edifice. What hath God wrought in those years. The last ministerial work performed by Brother Norris was as chaplain of the Hospital for the Insane.

On January 25, 1907, surrounded by family, friends, and his faithful physician, he fell asleep, his last words being, "To depart and be with Christ, which is far better." Eighty-five years and nine months is a long life, but its glory is not in its years. It is not a question of how long, but how much has a man lived. Measured by this standard the life of my friend and spiritual father stands like a lofty mountain peak. He lived long and he lived much. For seventy-five years he walked with God. For more than sixty years he preached Jesus, in season and out of season. In stately churches, in school-houses, in private dwellings, under brush arbors, "He loved to tell the story of Jesus and His love." More than any man I have ever known, he gave his life and his all to the work of the Master. He began life with a competency and had he so desired he might have lived in comfort or even in luxury, but not so. As the demands of a growing family increased his estate decreased until long years before his death he was left like his Master, with not where to lay his head. Yes, he died poor, but like Paul, he had the assurance that many had been made rich through him.

REV. JAMES BARNIE PARROTT.

James Barnie Parrott was born in Darlington County, January 15, 1853. He was reared in a Christian home, in the country. He attended the schools of the community and subsequently entered Brown University, graduating in 1875. Soon after he was united in marriage with Miss Nellie Freeman, of Nova Scotia, who survives him. After his graduation he began teaching school. For several years he taught the school at West Springs, this State, and subsequently at Waterloo and Clinton. While a student he was converted and joined the Second Church, Worchester, Mass. He studied law and commenced its practice, but a higher work was awaiting him. While he was teaching at Clinton he began to preach, and it was not long before his whole time was taken by waiting churches in Laurens County. He was ordained in 1888, Brother John D. Pitts, who conducted his funeral, being a member of the ordaining council. For about thirteen years he was pastor of the Clinton Baptist Church, in connection with other churches in reach. As a citizen of Clinton he was a recognized leader of his town in all that went for the uplift of the people. At the time of his death he was the Vice-President of the Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, for this State. For several years he was a member of the Board of Trustees of Furman University, and also a member of the Board of Ministerial Education.

Brother Parrott was always active in the work of the denomination. He was a man of great energy and determination, of strong convictions, bold and fearless in the maintenance of what he believed right, and in the denunciation of what he thought wrong. He was a preacher of unusual ability; he had a clear, discriminating mind, and was a careful, painstaking student, and in his delivery earnest and forceful. He was possessed of deep spirituality, and those who were with him much during the last months of his life noticed a marked growth in this respect. He was a true and generous friend; he loved his brethren and was jealous of their good will and affection. He had the unbounded confidence and respect of the people among whom he lived, and the vast concourse of people present at his funeral was an eloquent tribute to the life he had lived in their midst and the large place he had filled in their affections.

He died Monday morning at one o'clock, March 18, 1907, after an illness of two days and nights. His loved ones gathered about his bedside, he asked that the hymn, "Never Alone," might be sung, prayed for his family, and then quietly fell on sleep.

"How blest the righteous when he dies!
When sinks a weary soul to rest!
How mildly beam the closing eyes!
How gently heaves th' expiring breast."

JOHN T. MORRISON.

(By H. R. Chapman.)

John T. Morrison was born on Fair Lawn plantation in what was then Saint Peters Parish, now Beaufort County, on April 18, 1841, and died on April 12, 1907, therefore being about sixty-six years of age at the time of his death.

When but a youth of tender years he attended for a time the Gillisonville Academy, of Hampton County, where he was under the training of the very best instructors of that time. At about thirteen years of age he was prepared in the high schools of Columbia and Charleston for entrance to the Citadel Academy. After attending this institution for several sessions, he graduated in 1861, having made a high and honorable record in his class.

Immediately following his graduation, he enlisted as a private in the Confederate Army. His first service in the army was the brave defense of the city of Charleston and the surrounding parts. His faithfulness, bravery, and devotion to duty quickly won for him the confidence of his comrades, who made him lieutenant of his company. From this State his regiment was soon transferred to Virginia, where he experienced the hardest service during his enlistment. While in the faithful discharge of his duty near Richmond, he was captured by the enemy and imprisoned in Fort Delaware. Here for many months he experienced the most intense sufferings.

At the close of the war he returned to his native State, where he engaged in teaching school, and it is said that few men made a greater success of teaching or wielded a more powerful influence over the lives of his students than did he. He was elected to the office of Superintendent of Education of Hampton County, in which position he served for one term. Later he represented his county for two terms in the State Legislature.

In early life he united with the Baptist Church, in which as a consecrated man he labored to promote its every interest, till he felt impressed to preach the gospel. Accordingly, during the year 1883 he was ordained to the full work of the gospel ministry. Immediately following his ordination, he was called to the pastorate of the Lawtonville Church, which he served continuously for nearly twenty-five years. As a preacher and pastor perhaps J. T. Morrison's influence was most greatly felt by the masses of the people, for he was pre-eminently a pastor, a preacher, and a friend. He laid hold of the hearts of men and filled them with hope and courage, with love for the things that are lovely and with determination to work for the Lord. His eloquent sermons showed careful preparation and a familiarity with God's word.

As a friend he was universally beloved and admired. Unassuming and approachable, the lowliest and most humble member of his church felt at ease in his presence. He knew how to meet and mingle with all classes of men. Men of all creeds were numbered among his admirers and heard his preaching gladly. His presence and influence in the community life of this section gave courage and strength to every good cause, and his life among us was truly a benediction—so simple in its goodness, so fragrant and persuasive in its achievements. He was generous to an unusual degree, and thoroughly unselfish.

Brother Morrison was twice happily married. The first time to Miss Phoebe Whatly, of Beech Island, in 1868. The second was in 1889 to Miss Cornelia Rhodes, of Forsyth, Ga.

About two years ago the strenuous life of school-room and pulpit brought on an attack of paralysis of the brain, which forced him to retire from all work. Within the confines of his home he suffered a patient, trustful. hopeful invalid, calmly waiting for the summons to come up higher, when death brought sweet relief.

ROBERT S. WILLIAMS.

Robert S. Williams died May 19, 1907. The unexpected news of his death was a great shock to his many friends. In early life he married Miss Eugenia McMillan, of Barnwell County. She preceded him to the heavenly home less than two years. Four children survive. Theirs was a model home.

Brother Williams was a native of Colleton County, born September 7, 1837, and lived all his life within a few miles of the place of his birth. When a mere lad he entered the Confederate Army, and to the day of his death bore the scars of that great struggle of four years. Returning from the war, he found his ancestral fortune swept away. He set to work as a farmer and merchant to repair his losses, and succeeded well. But the opportunity of a finished education had passed while he was in the army. Possessed of fine intellectual gifts, he ranked far above the average in intelligence and culture. He was baptized in Greenville while a student at Furman University. He was ordained December, 1883, at Black Creek Church, Colleton County. He was pastor at Black Creek, Zion, and Bethlehem, in Colleton County, and Sand Hill, Mt. Olive, and Varnville, in Savannah River Association.

Brother Williams spent his ministerial life with country churches. His field often extended over many miles, and the remuneration was small, but he never complained of his lot. Always cheerful, genial and witty, he was a favorite among those who knew him. He had the love and confidence of all. Few men enjoy a stronger affection from the people whom they serve.

His death was sudden and triumphant. He went to his appointment in Hampton County on Saturday. He was in excellent health, but on Sunday complained of unusual suffering, and was unable to preach. With a young man he started on his return home, but stopped at the home of a friend, and after entering the piazza was seated in a chair, called for a drink of water, when suddenly placing his hand over his heart, he exclamied, "Oh, that awful pain has returned!" and almost instantly expired. His funeral was conducted by Brother F. O. S. Curtis, assisted by Brother S. W. Ackerman, life-long friends who knew him and loved him. His body rests near the old Black Creek Church, the oldest of all the Baptist churches in Colleton County—the church he loved so well.

J. M. SANDERS.

(Prepared by Rev. J. R. Moore.)

In the all-wise providence of God, Rev. J. M. Sanders was called to rest from earthly toil on July 3, 1907. "Faithful unto the end." On the sixty-fourth anniversary of his birthday he was given the abundant entrance into the mansion prepared for him in glory.

No more faithful minister ever wrought for the Master in the Beaverdam Association. He spent his days in Oconee County doing valiant service as a plain, practical preacher of the simple gospel of Christ. For several years he served the association as colporter and missionary. He delighted in evangelistic work, glorying in revival meetings, of which he has held many in the destitute sections of the county, and in which he did great good.

Though limited in educational advantages in early life, he used well every opportunity for mental and spiritual development in his ministry, and in his humble willingness to learn he grew in wisdom and in knowledge so long as he lived; never too wise in his own conceit to learn from whatever source he might. And for this reason he was always safe in deliberate counsel. He possessed strong native ability, which was discovered by the late lamented J. W. Stribling, who, with Rev. G. H. Carter, then one of the leading ministers in this section of the State, encouraged him and made it possible for him, though the head of a family, to pursue his studies under Brother Carter. In his later years he was considered a good, sound preacher and safe leader, of whom all said, "a man in whom is no guile." His family physician said concerning him, "There never lived a better man and nothing too good could be said of him."

For several years he was in very poor health, but never finally gave up the work of the ministry till the last year before he died. The few months remaining he lived quietly in his home, which in the days of his strength he had established on a small farm he bought in the woods. Here he worked hard and cleared the land and paid for it, laboring on the farm and in colportage and mission work.

Here he reared a large family of four sons and five daughters, all now grown. All survive him, with the widow, who sorrow not alone in his death, for the whole county feels deeply the loss of this noble servant of God, and bow with the family to shed the sympathizing tear.

REV. JOHN O. GOUGH.

John O. Gough was born at East Bend, N. C., December 18, 1867. He attended Wake Forest College three and a half years, but lacked one year of graduating. He left college in June, 1893, and took charge of the Manning Baptist Church in January, 1894. He served two country churches, Dudley and Providence, the first year he was pastor at Manning. He also preached for the chapel at Alcolu on Sunday evenings for some time while pastor at Manning. He did some preaching while a student at Wake Forest during vacation, but was not ordained until January, 1894, about the time he became pastor of the Manning Church.

Brother Gough was a man of unusual ability. He was possessed of fine common sense, patience and tact, and knew how to deal with human nature as he found it. He was spiritually minded, an earnest student of the Bible, forcible and impressive in his delivery, and was a preacher above the average. Fully in sympathy with the denominational interests, and possessed of fine executive and administrative ability, the church under him developed in good works and became one marked for its gifts to religious causes. The membership had a remarkable growth, and during his pastorate a splendid house of worship was erected and paid for.

After a successful pastorate of thirteen years at Manning, he accepted the call of the Johnston Baptist Church, entering upon his work there the middle of last April. Within a short while he had won the confidence and love of the people of that town and community in a remarkable degree, when he was seized with fatal illness and died in the hospital of Augusta, Ga., August 3d, 1907. He left numerous friends, and his childless widow, to mourn his departure. He was cut down in the very prime of life, but he had accomplished a noble work for the Master. He was fully conscious that the end was approaching and was fully resigned to the will of God. He sleeps in the cemetery at Johnston.

MILES CALVIN COMPTON.

Miles Calvin Compton died at Laurens, S. C., Sunday night, September 22, 1907. He was born in Spartanburg County, October 2, 1841. After the War Between the States he located in Haywood County, N. C., where he entered the ministry. For more than twenty years he devoted his best energies to preaching and building churches throughout that region. Eight years ago he returned to his native State and for two years supplied Cedar Shoals Church. At the expiration of the first year he was called to the Second Church, Laurens, which he supplied until last year. During his pastorate the Second Church built and dedicated a handsome house of worship. The membership grew rapidly and developed in every good work. Brother Compton was devoted to the work and the interests of his people, and they became greatly attached to him. After resigning the Second Church, Laurens, he was pastor of the Watts Mill Church, New Harmony, and Warrior Creek churches, in Laurens Association. He was happy in his work when his health failed and he passed to his blessed reward. He had the confidence and respect of all and was a faithful minister of Jesus. He is survived by his widow and six children, among them Rev. L. B. Compton, of Asheville, N. C.

HOWELL W. COOPER.

Howell W. Cooper was born near Salley, S. C., in 1845. He died of heart failure while sitting in the store of one of his friends, October 1, 1907. He was converted during the Civil War and joined the Tabernacle Church, Aiken County. He subsequently joined the Rocky Grove Church. He was ordained about fifteen years ago by Brethren H. L. Baggott and J. H. Sanford. He gave himself to the ministry in the Aiken and Barnwell and Edisto Associations. At his funeral it was stated by a brother present that he had known Brother Cooper for forty years and that he had been a faithful servant of the Lord. At the time of his death he was doing a fine work in the ministry. He was pastor of four churches in Aiken and Barnwell Counties—Reedy Branch, Matlock. Bethesda, and Seven Pines. His churches were devoted to him. He had accepted work for another year, but a kind Heavenly Father had designed otherwise. Although his ministry began late in life, and he had little previous preparation, he was an acceptable preacher and exerted a fine influence throughout that section of the State.

During the Civil War he belonged to Hart's Battery and made a brave, faithful soldier. In a higher and more sacred warfare he was a good soldier of Jesus Christ. He has finished the fight and entered into rest.

He leaves a wife and other relatives. He was laid to rest in the cemetery of the Rocky Grove Church, to await the general resurrection.

GEORGE P. BUSH.

Rev. George P. Bush was born in Aiken County, South Carolina, March 17th, 1838. He volunteered in the Confederate Army in 1861, and served faithfully and with distinction until the close of the struggle. In 1867 he was converted under the ministry of Dr. Bayard, and united with the Matlock Baptist Church. He was ordained deacon in 1880, and in 1894 he was ordained to the gospel ministry by the McBean Baptist Church, McBean, Ga. He was forty years a Christian, thirteen years a deacon, and thirteen years a minister and active pastor. He was one of the founders of the North Augusta Baptist Church, and was an honored member at the time of his death.

In June, 1907, he was stricken with paralysis, and after lingering for about three months, he quietly and peacefully fell on sleep, September 16th, 1907. Brother Bush was a good man, an earnest and faithful minister. "He rests from his labors, and his works do follow him."

DAVID HALL.

This consecrated young man was born April 6th, 1876. He married Miss Dosia Sox, and their union was one of supreme happiness. He was greatly devoted to his home and to the companion of his bosom. He was a Christian very early in life, and became first a deacon and was licensed to preach December 10, 1905. He died August 16, 1907, at Honea Path, after three weeks' severe illness. While preaching he had to excuse himself and was carried to his home, where loving hands administered till the last hour of his life. He bid his loving wife and two little daughters an affectionate farewell, and died fully resigned to His will who doeth all things well. His whole life was a precious heritage for those who knew him. A noble soldier has fallen on sleep, and in a home of so much sunshine yesterday, today the dark mantle of sorrow and grief and disappointment dwells.

He had arranged to attend the Seminary this fall, and would have soon gone to his studies, but a wise Providence thought otherwise.

His funeral was conducted by Rev. S. R. Bass, and he was laid to rest in the old churchyard at Lewiedale, S. C., till the morning of the great day of God to all saints. Peace to his dust. God bless his home. S. R. Bass.

DEACONS.

Those whose names follow ministered the office of deacon well, "purchased to themselves a good degree," and have passed to their reward:

Joshua Jameson, deacon of Pisgah Church, Anderson County, born December 12, 1822, died December 12, 1906. He was for many years Clerk of the Piedmont Association.

John Monroe Johnson, deacon of the Marion Church, died December 13, 1906. For many years Superintendent of his Sunday School. Solicitor of the Fourth Judicial Circuit for over twenty years, and at the time of his death. Moderator of Pee Dee Association one year.

J. E. Bass, deacon of the Swift Creek Church, Darlington County, born October 11, 1840, died February 15, 1907.

Matthew Ellyson Vass, deacon of the First Church, Spartanburg, died February 27, 1907.

William Hodges Stallworth, deacon of the Damascus Church, Abbeville County, died April 15, 1907.

John J. Wilson, "the beloved physician," deacon of the Cheraw Church, died April 17, 1907, in his eighty-seventh year.

William C. Coker, deacon of the First Church, Darlington, died April 20, 1907. For many years a bright and shining light in the councils of State. Honored, respected, and loved throughout South Carolina.

R. H. Rogers. deacon of the First Church, Darlington, died May 1, 1907.

John R. Sumner, deacon Mt. Lebanon Church, Union County, died May 8, 1907, aged 62 years.

Hartwell C. Dew, deacon Catfish Church, Marion County, died May 16, 1907, aged 76 years.

William A. Cleckley was born November, 1851, and died April 10th, 1907. Brother Cleckley was, at the time of his death, a deacon of the North Augusta Baptist Church, honored and greatly beloved by all.

W. Perry Cunningham, deacon of Berea Church, Greenville County, died November 12, 1907, aged 55 years.

John A. Fant, born in Union County, April 12, 1857, died in the city of Union, September 24, 1907. He was deacon for many years of the First Church, Union; a trustee of Furman University; a man eminently successful in business and scrupulously honest in all transactions; a willing and a generous helper of the poor and needy; a loyal supporter of his denomination's interest. A liberal giver to his church through life, he made ample provision for its needs in his death. Consistent Christian, progressive business man, large-hearted philanthropist, his unexpected death is mourned by thousands.

Charles Hallette Judson, born April 20, 1820, in Monroe, Conn., died in Greenville January 12, 1907. Deacon of the First Church, Greenville, for nearly fifty years; professor in Furman University for fifty years and more; president of the Greenville Female College seven years; trustee of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary for twenty years; Treasurer of the Baptist State Convention, and of Furman University for many years. He gave his life, his fortune, his home to Furman University. His name and the service he rendered will never be forgotten by an apprecative and grateful people. He came to us a stranger, but for many years previous to his death his name and worth was known in thousands of homes throughout the State.

W. M. Johnson, deacon of Swansea Church, died in October, 1907, aged 84.

Adam Rister, deacon of Antioch Church, Lexington Association, died November, 1907, aged 84.

W. Traynham Daniel, deacon of Wolf Creek Church, Spartanburg County, died October 10, 1907, aged 57.

R. H. Y. Lowry was born July 23, 1837, and died March 6, 1907. He was a charter member and deacon of Seneca Church, and was faithful in every good work.

THOMAS VARDELLE WALSH.

Thomas Vardelle Walsh, of Sumter, was not a deacon, but for many years he was prominent in Baptist work. He was born in Charleston, S. C., April 12, 1832, and was married to Miss Ellen J. David, June 24, 1852. Upon a profession of faith in Jesus he was baptized into the old Moriah Church, now extinct, by Rev. William Holmes, on October 15, 1850. He was received by letter into the Sumter Church April 3, 1857, during the pastorate of Rev. W. D. Rice. He departed this life, in the joy and hope of gospel faith, on Christmas evening, 1906.

For ten years he was Moderator of the Santee Association and won for himself a good degree in the esteem of his brethren. At the time of his death he was Chairman of the Board for Aged Ministers' Relief. He was Judge of Probate of Sumter County for many years, and administered the affairs of this office faithfully and to the satisfaction of the public. He was devout in his church attendance, and until age and weakness overcame him, his place at the prayermeeting was never vacant. He was gifted in prayer, and because of this gift was a great helper to his pastor. Almost up to life's last limit he was in full possession of his faculties, and spoke tenderly to those about him of the exodus he was about to accomplish.

CONSTITUTION

We, the representatives of the constituent body of the State Convention of the Baptist denomination in South Carolina, do agree upon the following articles as forming the Constitution of the Convention, and as the basis of the union:

ARTICLE I.

This body shall be styled the State Convention of the Baptist Denomination in South Carolina.

ARTICLE II.

The comprehensive purpose of the Convention shall be: The union of the Baptists throughout the State in efforts to advance the kingdom of Christ in the world.

The Convention will claim no right to lord it over God's heritage, believing that the right of government, under Christ, is vested in the churches themselves.

ARTICLE III.

Special objects fostered by the Convention, as tending to accomplish its comprehensive purpose, shall be: The Preaching of the Gospel in destitute portions of the State; the work of Colportage, including distribution of God's Word and approved Christian literature; the interests of Home Missions, Foreign Missions, Sunday School and Temperance; the work of Christian Education; the maintenance of an Orphanage; and the care of Aged Min isters and the families of deceased ministers.

ARTICLE IV.

The preaching of the Gospel in destitute portions of our State and the work of Colportage shall be known as State Missions, and shall be entrusted to an Executive Board, consisting of a President, a Vice-President, a Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer, and an Auditor, who shall be Auditor of the Convention, and sixteen other members. This Board shall be appointed annually by the Convention, and the President of the Convention shall be ex-officio a member of the Board. Seven members of the Board shall constitute a quorum. The Corresponding Secretary shall be the executive officer of the Board. The Board shall act under general direction of the Convention, and shall make an annual report to the Convention. The Treasurer shall make an annual report of receipts and disbursements. Besides the special objects entrusted to the Board, it shall also have authority to represent the Convention in all matters requiring attention while the Convention is not in session.

ARTICLE V.

Among special objects of the Convention, the support of Institutions of Learning in this State shall be considered as primary. The government of these Institutions shall be committeed to a Board of Trustees, who shall be appointed by the Convention in accordance with the charters of the Institutions.

ARTICLE VI.

In addition to the Boards provided for in Articles IV and V there shall be: A Board of Ministerial Education, to be appointed annually by the Convention, whose duty it shall be to gather funds to help needy and worthy young men while preparing for the ministry; a Board of Aged Ministers' Relief, to be appointed annually by the Convention, whose duty it shall be to gather funds for the assistance of aged ministers and the families of deceased ministers; and a Board of Trustees of Connie Maxwell Orphanage, to whom the entire management of the Orphanage shall be committed, subject to directions from the Convention, and one-third of whose number shall be appointed each year by the Convention.

ARTICLE VII.

This Convention shall consist of delegates from the Baptist Associations in this State, who may approve the measures here adopted, and from other religious bodies of the Baptist denomination concerned in the promotion of the same objects with the Convention. Each Association shall be entitled to two delegates at large, and also to one delegate for each twenty-five dollars contributed since the last session of the Convention, to State Missions; and any Baptist church, Sunday School, Missionary or Education society, or individual, shall be entitled to one delegate for each twenty-five dollars contributed as aforesaid, for the purpose named; provided that every such delegate shall be a white member of some Baptist church in the State. The delegates shall be chosen annually, and satisfactory evidence of their appointment shall, on demand, be exhibited to the Convention.

VIII.

The Convention shall have a President, two Vice-Presidents, a Secretary and Assistant Secretary, Statistical Secretary, a Treasurer, and an Auditor. The duties severally assigned to the officers of similar organizations shall devolve on those of this body; and they shall hold their office for one year, or until their successors are appointed, unless forfeited by unrighteous conduct.

This Convention will receive contributions, legacies and bequests for the several objects which it has in charge.

All moneys specially appropriated shall be sacredly applied to the objects designated; but when any contributions or bequests are made without any special designation, discretion in their application shall be exercised by the Convention or Executive Board.

ARTICLE X.

The Convention shall have annual meetings; but in cases of important concern, the President may, at the instance of the Executive Board, call a special meeting.

ARTICLE XI.

Any alteration which experience may suggest can be made in these Articles by the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present at an annual meeting.

RULES FOR THE TRANSACTION OF BUSINESS.

1. After prayer on the first day, the names of delegates shall be enrolled, officers shall be elected and, when the body is organized, applications for membership from new bodies be decided on, and if admitted their attending delegates shall be received by the right hand of fellowship.

2. The meeting of the Convention shall be opened and closed each day of its session with prayer by the President, or by some person whom he shall request to perform the service.

3. The Minutes shall be read at suitable intervals, to the end that mistakes, if any shall have been made, may be corrected.

4. The following Stated Committees shall be appointed by the President early in each session to report during the session, viz:

(1) A Committee of Five on Preaching during the Session .

(2) A Committee on Time and Place of Next Meeting and Preacher for Convention Sermon.

5. The Following Standing Committees shall be appointed by the President at his convenience during each session, to report at the next session, viz:

(1) A Committee of Five on Foreign Missions.
(2) A Committe of Five on Home Missions.
(3) A Committee of Five on Woman's Missions.
(4) A Committee of Five on Sunday Schools.
(5) A Committee of Five on Temperance.
(6) A Committee of Five on Order of Business.
(7) A Committee of Five on Young People's Work.
(8) A Committee of Five on Education.
(9) A Committee on Obituaries, consisting of one member from each Association, with the addition of a chairman, to gather, during the year, facts concerning deceased ministers and such others as have been distinctively active and useful in the work of the Convention, and to prepare suitable notices of them to be reported at the ensuing session of the Convention.

6. Kerfoot's Parliamentary Law shall be Standard for the conduct of the business of the Convention.

7. No collections shall be taken in the Convention without a motion.

8. Any of the foregoing rules may be suspended at any meeitng of the Convention, by a vote of two-thirds of the members present.
